Anti-Foreign Feeling In The Yangtse Valley

Agitation Spreads Throughout the Yangtse River Basin—American Flag Flying Over American Consulate at Skunking is Destroyed—Chinese Casualties From Anglo-American Bombardment Placed at Six Killed and Fifteen Wounded.

Washington, March 31 (AP).—The flood of dispatches from the far east which have for days brought to the navy and state departments here disquieting reports of conditions facing Americans in China today had subsided to a mere trickle, but there was no indication of any material lessening of official anxiety over the situation.

Admiral Williams, commanding American forces in China, reported to the navy department that he had dispatched a destroyer to Tsingtao, 400 miles north of Shanghai, at the request of the American consul, but his message gave no details of the situation which had impelled the consul to make such a request.

It was apparent, however, in dispatches from China that the anti-foreign agitation which has been reported from an area of the territory controlled by the victorious Chinese armies had not lessened. It is this agitation, accompanied by the extreme violence to foreigners at Nanking, which has impelled American officials to exert every pressure to have Americans moved from the danger zone.

Destroy American Flag.

As an evidence of the spread of the anti-foreign feeling along the Yangtse river basin, dispatches today told of the destruction of the flag flying over the American consulate at Skunking, on the Yangtse river in Szechwan province. This presumably referred to the consulate at Chungking, a port in the far west of China. Latest state department figures show that a year ago there were 56 American residents at the port, while in the district covered by the consulate there were 250.

Consulate Ordered Closed.

Some of the more remote consulates, such as that of Chungking, have been ordered closed as soon as the evacuation of Americans within their jurisdiction has been completed. Whether all those at Chungking have joined the general exodus of foreigners down the Yangtse valley probably cannot be determined until full checkups have been made at Shanghai and at other points to which American consuls and minister MacMurray have directed them.

Chinese Casualties.

Shanghai, March 31 (AP).—The Chinese casualties from the Anglo-American bombardment of Szechwan hill, Nanking, last Thursday were estimated by the Chinese command, Kiang Kai-Shek, in a statement today as six killed and fifteen wounded, with the majority of the wounded recovering. From forty to fifty houses were destroyed.

Chang emphasized that a full and accurate report was not yet available and that these figures were subject to revision.

This is the first definite estimate of the number of Chinese casualties from Thursday's shelling, which was undertaken to protect Americans and other foreigners on Szechwan hill who were menaced by soldiers in Chinese uniforms. Fantastic figures as to the number of casualties have been disseminated in China, one report saying 200,000 Chinese had been killed.

A Great Indignity.

Chang said he had instructed the Nanking garrison commander to lodge a protest with the British and American naval authorities against "what I consider the unjustified bombardment of the city."

"No notice was given us before the bombardment," he added, "and no time was allowed in which to take measures to protect foreign lives and property. The nationalist military authorities consider the bombardment a great indignity, and our officers and men in Nanking are deeply aroused and incensed."

Reports concerning Nanking, which he characterized as exaggerated, had "created a tense international atmosphere," he said, adding:

Want Friendly Relations.

"As a result of these reports it is feared we have lost much of the sympathy which formerly existed for us among friendly foreign peoples. The nationalist leaders want friendly relations with the foreign powers."

"We are not anti-foreign but pro-Chinese. Our aim is to secure equal national equality—to become an equal to the family of nations."

"Any nation willing to treat us as an equal to our friends, although it may have oppressed us in the past."

Chang presented the presence here of foreign troops and warships and Chinese measures taken for the defense of the international settlement, which he claimed only "create a feeling of complete and utter fear."

"They tell the members usually taken by Chinese leaders toward the foreigners," he said, "measures which it would be better to adapt toward the Chinese of our own country."

Four Men Killed In Mine Blast

Great Rejoicing Over The Escape of 300 Miners, Who Were Working in Rooms of The Main Headings When Explosion Occurred.

Elmhurst, Pa., March 31 (AP).—Cambria county's miners were rejoicing today over the escape of some 300 of their number from the ill-fated No. 3 mine here of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Corporation, visited yesterday by a tremendous explosion. Sorrow tinged that rejoicing, however, as preparations went forward for burial of the four men killed by the blast.

Expert opinion seemed to agree that the very force and speed of the blast, coupled with the fact that most of the miners were at work in rooms of the main headings, contrived to avert what had been feared would be a much greater loss of life. The mine was equipped with an air intake system and air outlet and authorities believed the explosion was borne by a heavy air current past the closed rooms up the main sloping plane until it spent itself on the outside.

Damage to the interior of the mine was not great, a company announcement said.

Weirbach Buys Phoenicia Hotel

New Management of Central Hotel Will Have Installed Modern Improvements—Popular Resort for Fishermen.

Charles C. Weirbach of this city has purchased the Central Hotel property at Phoenicia of Alfred Whipple, who has conducted the hotel for the past twenty years. Hot and cold water will be installed in the bed rooms, a new hot water heating plant will be installed and the hotel will be refurbished in every particular and it is expected that the improvements will be completed and the property ready for reopening by April 15.

The Central Hotel at Phoenicia has long been a popular stopping place for fishermen and city guests as well as traveling men. Mr. Whipple, who conducted the place for a score of years, is known as one of the most expert fishermen in the Catskill region and many a tale of fishermen's luck can be related by him.

Family Escaped Through Window Of Burning Home

Bungalow of Thomas Clearwater Totally Destroyed by Fire of Unknown Origin—Mother Forced to Pass Her Three Small Children Through Window.

While Mrs. Thomas Clearwater was busy about her bungalow located just back of Harwich street in the town of Ulster at 7 o'clock this morning she discovered the building in flames. So suddenly did the fire sweep through the bungalow that the frantic mother had just time enough to pick up her three small children, one a baby, and pass them through a window.

The father had left the home about 6 o'clock this morning to go to his work, and the children were still in bed when the flames broke out. So rapidly did the flames envelop the bungalow that Mrs. Clearwater was unable to save any of the children's clothing or the household effects.

The Kingston fire department was called to the home by a still alarm of fire, but the fire was beyond control. There is no city water in that vicinity and no fire hydrants and it was impossible to stretch hose on the fire.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is presumed to have started from the stove pipe. Mrs. Clearwater informed Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy that the first she discovered the flames was when she saw dense smoke curling along the ceiling of the room she was in.

FLOOD REFUGEES ARE LIVING IN BOX CARS

Laconia Landing, Ark., March 31 (AP).—Fertile Laconia Circle, with its entire 19 square miles of Delta lands flooded by the breaking of the flood gap in the Mississippi river near here, will remain under water for several weeks, army engineers declared today, and the 2,000 persons driven from their homes will continue to occupy box cars, tents or whatever accommodations they may find.

One railroad has converted over 600 box cars into temporary homes for the refugees. Many of the refugees fled to Snow Lake, near the center of the flooded "circle" and remain marooned there until the flood subsides.

The break in the levee is still widening. It had exceeded 150 feet in width last night.

BELIEVE COUNTESS AND DE TRAFFORD WILL RECOVER

Paris, March 31 (AP).—Such improvement was shown in the condition of Countess De Janze and Raymond V. de Trafford this morning, that hospital internes believe they will recover. The countess, formerly Alice Silverthorne of Chicago, shot de Trafford as he was bidding her goodbye at a railroad station Saturday, and then shot herself.

A brother of de Trafford, who is a member of a prominent English family, is making arrangements to remove him to a private clinic. The countess was able to see her mother-in-law, the Dowager Countess de Janze, and a cousin, Miss Josephine Chapin, for a few minutes last night, but was too weak for sustained conversation.

PASTOR GREENWELL GETS $300 INCREASE IN SALARY

The Middletown Daily Herald-Times Press of March 29 states: "At a special meeting of the official board of St. Paul's Church held Monday evening, the pastor, the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, was given an increase of $300 in his salary for the coming year, making a total of $5,200. The Rev. Mr. Greenwell's first year as pastor of St. Paul's has been a very successful one for the church in all its aspects, and it is earnestly desired that he be reappointed to the pastorate."

The Rev. Greenwell was for some time pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church of this city and was a member of the board of public works.

NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM PARIS TO NEW YORK

Paris, March 31 (AP).—Captain Charles Nungesser, one of France's best known aviators, and Francis Francillon are determined to be the first fliers to try a non-stop flight from Paris to New York in the hope of winning the $25,000 prize offered for the feat by Raymond Orteff of New York. They have decided to start during the first two weeks of May.

de Nungesser's Reputation.

Los Angeles, March 31 (AP).—Lt. Gerard de Nungesser, said master, who won a $5000 prize in his recent $25,000 whirling suit against J. Stuart Blackton, this director, contemplated today from the psychiatric ward of the County Hospital the prospect of domination by July 1 and the possibility that he will have to spend the intervening time subject to orders of the luxury commission.

Police Warn of Fire.

Wednesday evening at 10:12 o'clock a false alarm of fire was rung in from Box 43, the corner of Delaware street and Broadway.

Trolley Cars Are Running Through

So much dissatisfaction was caused by the plan of operating the trolley cars as a main line from North Front street to the Rhinebeck ferry and a single car from the ferry to Ponckhockie, that this morning full service was restored to the Ponckhockie section of the city.

The trolley cars are now running through to East Union street and North street. If there are any passengers on the car for the corner of Delaware avenue and North street they are taken there. If the motor-man sees a passenger standing at Hart's Corners for a trolley car the orders are to run down from East Union street and pick him up.

This is the same service rendered by the trolley road before the strike car order went into effect last week.

First Diphtheria Death Wednesday

First Death of That Disease to be Reported to Health Board Since 1923—Health Officials State Disease Can be Avoided by Use of Toxin Antitoxin.

The first death from diphtheria in Kingston to be reported to the board of health since 1923 was that of Wednesday of William Henry Harrison, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. H. Dubois, at the family home, No. 5 DeWitt street, at 2 o'clock that morning. That afternoon the boy was buried in Montrose cemetery.

The health officials state the inauguration of the free clinics where toxin antitoxin is administered has materially aided in cutting down the death rate from diphtheria. In fact so successful has been the administering of the serum that no deaths from diphtheria have been reported among children thus immunized.

Health officials recommend that all children should be protected from the disease by the use of the serum.

Police Search for "Ethel" and "Sid"

Playmates of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray Being Sought By Authorities—Search For Brief Case Along Railroad.

New York, March 31 (AP).—"Ethel" and "Sid," believed by police to have been playmates of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray on their tours of the Great White Way, were being sought by authorities today.

"Ethel" and "Sid," whose names were found by police in letters of Mrs. Snyder to Gray, have not been otherwise identified. Police said neither relatives nor friends of the slain Albert Snyder nor his wife could recall anyone named "Ethel" or "Sid."

One of Mrs. Snyder's letters to Gray said:

"My very own sweetheart: 'About this time tomorrow I'll be leaving. Ethel called up and wants to see me—what about it don't know tomorrow afternoon. Am having a young lady here this morning. She is quite interested in Sid, so here's hoping she might be able to down or cram math in her head. Come home with 29 per cent—now I ask you what that grand!'

"Goodbye, sweetie, oh darling! Love and kisses."

"P. S. Not as always."

Questioning of "Ethel" and "Sid" police believe, would result in important information as to the movements of Mrs. Snyder and Gray in the weeks before the murder.

While the authorities here labored to strengthen the state's case against the accused sweethearts, the railroad fight of way between New York and Syracuse was searched for a brief case which Gray was believed to have thrown from the train on his return trip to Syracuse after Snyder was slain in his Queens Village home on March 20. The case contained a bottle of chloroform, police believed.

Sam Lombardine, a cobbler, whose establishment is located near the Snyder home, has explained to police that he had taken the case from a paper in his shop the day before the killing when he was in his shop to get shoes polished.

Investigators had awarded the paper shreds as a fictitious clue intended to direct blame toward Italian manufacturers.

A card reading, "Now I am down," was found at the side door of the Snyder home, police have revealed. Gray entered the house through the front door the night of the murder, his confession said, although authorities state it may have been introduced for fraud.

MINERS FIGHT OPERATIONS TO A JOINT CONFERENCE

Columbus, O., March 31 (AP).—On the eve of the threatened suspension of mining in Ohio, Ohio miners have invited Ohio operators to a joint conference with the object of drawing up a new wage agreement. This was announced here today by Leo Ball, president of the Ohio miners.

Henry Ford Spent A Good Night; Arrests Reported

Chief Surgeon Says Ford in Resting Comfortably and No New Complications Have Arisen—Numerous Suspects Held on Secret Charges.

Detroit, March 31 (AP).—Henry Ford spent a comfortable night and no new complications have arisen, said a statement issued at the Henry Ford Hospital this morning by Dr. Roy D. McClure, chief surgeon.

"Mr. Ford spent a good night, is now resting comfortably and no new complications have arisen," said the statement.

Numerous Arrests Made.

Numerous arrests have been made by department of justice agents investigating what is believed to have been a deliberate attempt to assassinate Henry Ford, the Detroit Free Press said today.

The suspects are being held on secret charges while the authorities check up on their movements last Sunday night when a large closed automobile dashed against a Ford coupe in which Ford was driving alone and forced it over a 15 foot embankment along the River Rouge.

"We are not saying it was a deliberate attempt upon Mr. Ford's life," said a spokesman for Ford, according to the Free Press.

Believe Car Is Known.

"The matter is being investigated by many men and from many angles, and we believe that the Studebaker car which followed Mr. Ford and forced him from the road is known. You can draw your own conclusions."

The motor manufacturer, hailed in some quarters as America's only billionaire and the richest man in the world, suffered a slight contusion, and slight hemorrhages from the bladder and lungs, but those conditions have cleared up, said a bulletin issued by Dr. R. D. McClure, chief surgeon of the Henry Ford Hospital.

Severe contusions over the ribs and back, with severe strain to the back to fixation of Mr. Ford's chest and back by splinting and he must undergo complete rest for two weeks.

Rendered Unconscious.

Mr. Ford was rendered unconscious, but soon recovered and was able to make his way to the nearby entrance to his estate, where he made his plight known to a gateman. Mr. Ford was called on the private line between the gateman's lodge and the Ford home and ran several hundred yards through a driving rain and sleet storm.

Mr. Ford was placed in an automobile and taken to the house. His condition did not improve as expected and on Monday he was removed to the hospital.

Secrecy Strictly Applied.

The usual secrecy which surrounds Ford's movements and plans was applied strictly, and news that he had been injured did not leak out until yesterday, and then only in the form of rumors that he had been slightly injured.

Ford executives prepared a statement asserting that because of the $1,000,000 libel suit of Aaron Sapiro against Ford, and the "unavoidable and unfounded inferences that may be drawn," the facts were withheld from the public, although communicated to the court Monday morning.

BALDWIN GRAND PIANOS FOR BROADWAY THEATRE

Harry Lazarus, president of the Kingston Theatre Corporation, has placed an order with the Baldwin Piano Shop, 36 John street, for two Baldwin grand pianos, one for the stage and the other for the orchestra. The pianos will be used in the new Broadway Theatre. Mr. Lazarus will personally select the pianos ordered. The Baldwin pianos were selected by Mr. Lazarus as he found upon investigation that they were used in a great majority of the largest theatres, conservatories and by the leading orchestras such as Whittman and others by reason of their tone and durability as to weather conditions and continuous use.

Foster and released from jail.

Kingston District Report To Conference

Rev. George Benton Smith, District Superintendent, Submits Report to New York M. E. Conference Outlining Some of Results Accomplished During Past Year—Four Hundred Preparatory Members Waiting to Join Church at Easter—Five Hundred Joined During Year.

Shriners' Ball Netted $3,449

At today's session of the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in New York city, the Rev. George Benton Smith, superintendent of the Kingston District, submitted the following report of the district for the year ending March 30, 1927.

In a few minutes to chronicle the year's work of sixty ministers and seventeen hundred officials of 121 churches backed by a host of members, is manifestly impossible. At best much must remain unsaid. To see it now in perfect retrospect and to be able to reduce it to a readable report is one of the several penalties attaching to the office of District Superintendent. Miracles have been wrought, magic transformations brought about, and romances lived, yet for the most part I must confine myself to cold figures.

Four hundred preparatory members stand at our doors, waiting to come in at Easter and take their places with the five hundred who have already joined this year. There has been no spasmodic revival season, outside of a goodly number of Win-My-Chum campaigns. The ingathering has come in a steady flow throughout the year. Faithful teaching by pastor and people, by life no less than words, faithful teaching in the Sunday school, and much earnest prayer lie back of it all. The two organizations that contribute most to such ingathering are the Sunday school and the Epworth League. A very helpful sign in the latter field is the increase in the number of Junior Leagues. Over a third of the charges report such a number of others in the process of organization. The League itself has had a thoroughly successful year throughout the district. Mission study classes, institutes, conventions, financial campaigns, devotional meetings and win-my-chum weeks, are some of the surface indications of intelligent organization and activity. Here John Wesley could now find his "League of Venice defence". In the matter of win-my-chum work we far outstrip the other districts of the area.

Two New Sunday Schools. The Sunday school has kept steadily on the march throughout the year, giving renewed attention to grading and to improving both the methods and manner of teaching. At least two new schools have been added, at Conesville and at West Conesville. Were it not for the Sunday school, the world service results in this district would be sadly different. Our schools give generously. To me it is very gratifying that our pastors have this year thrown themselves wholeheartedly into this work, aiming among other things to enroll in the membership of their respective schools every available young person in the community, and to win for Christ and the church every member of the Sunday school. If we win the battle here, we need not worry so much about the down and outs in the gutter. The best way to save souls is to save them from the cradle up, and not to first lose them that we may save them later.

Ford Libel Suit Will Proceed

Regardless Whether Henry Ford is Able to Take the Witness Stand This Week—Interest in Testimony of Sapiro Says.

Detroit, March 31 (AP).—Trial of the $1,000,000 Ford-Sapiro libel suit will proceed in federal court here regardless whether Henry Ford is able to take the witness stand this week.

Defense counsel will request Judge Fred Raymond to continue the taking of the testimony until Mr. Ford is available as a witness.

Other testimony can be placed in the record and Ford called as the last witness to round out the case, if necessary. William Henry Gallagher, attorney for the plaintiff said, Gallagher announced, however, that objection would be entered to any attempt to take the automobile manufacturer's testimony by deposition.

Interest in the testimony of Aaron Sapiro, who for two days had been relating the damage resulting from articles in Ford's Dearborn Independent, sagged in federal court yesterday when the news of Sunday's mishap became known.

Senator James A. Reed sparred with the cooperative marketing organizer who claims his reputation was injured to the extent of one million dollars. Reed spent most of his time on Sapiro's activities with the tomato growers of California.

Coffins Used to Smuggle Aliens

Hamilton, Ont., March 31 (AP). Coffins have been used to smuggle aliens into the United States, according to testimony given here in the case of Louis Michaelis, convicted on a smuggling charge and sentenced to a six months term in prison. The coffins were provided with air vents for their living occupants and were delivered to an American border city in a short time after being placed on board a train here.

Justice said that forty foreigners paid Michaelis various sums to land them in the United States by the coffin route in various other smuggling schemes at which he was an adept.

WILLIAMS STILL IN HANDS OF MEANER BANDITS

Winston City, March 31 (AP).—Edward M. Williams, an American kidnapped by bandits last Sunday, is still in the hands of his captors, dispatches from Washington reported today. Military forces sent in pursuit of the bandits have not yet succeeded in locating them.

Wounded from Wounding. In last night's fighting Williams was a slight member of the Chapultepec 12th Company, said he was in danger of being slain when his capture released the $20,000 ransom they were demanding.

FISH SKATING POPULAR SPORT

Men and Women of Canadian Northwest Take Part in Sport.

Vancouver, B. C.—Fish skaters are having an unusually successful season this year on Lac La Hache, in the Cariboo district of northern British Columbia. The ice, which formed during the first cold snap before the snow surges came, is transparent over the length of twelve miles and a width of two miles, and the fish are easily spotted in the clear blue waters beneath the frozen surface. So far as is known, Lac La Hache is the only place in the world where fish are caught on skates, and even there the sport is only possible when there is no snow. As a business enterprise it might not yield heavy dividends, but as an outdoor attraction it has few peers.

Lac La Hache is situated in a cattle ranching district where the young men and young women have ample leisure during the winter months. Many of them are brilliant skaters and nearly all can travel three times as fast as a fish, whose speed is usually much overestimated.

"Chasers" and "Spears." In skating fish the sportsmen are divided into two groups, the "chasers" and the "spears." The chasers go to one side of the lake where the fish are known to congregate in winter and scout around until they discover a school. By beating on the transparent ice with branches or sacks they frighten the fish from its resting place and then chase it across the lake. A number of the fish dive into deep water, but the majority stay close to the surface, twisting and turning as they watch their pursuers through the clear ice, their goggle eyes almost bursting from their heads as they see the branches and sacks swishing in their direction. Forced to swim much faster than their normal speed the fish soon tire.

It is then a comparatively easy matter to steer them toward long trenches cut in the ice on the edge of which stand the "spears" all ready for action. As soon as a fish strikes this bit of open water it stops suddenly, presumably because of the change in temperature. It is promptly speared and tossed on the ice for future division on an even basis among all who are taking part in the sport. Catch Twenty-Four-Pound Trout. The best catch this year was a trout weighing twenty-four pounds. Eighteen others weighed twenty pounds or more, but five to six pounds is about the average weight.

As soon as the snow falls there is an end of fish skating, but another unusual sport takes its place. This is the hunting of coyotes by automobiles, though there must be a hard frosty crust before it is safe to try speeding on the 12-mile sheet of ice. There are tens of thousands of coyotes in the district. A large number of these cross Lac La Hache on the ice at a speed that would leave a horse far behind, but is still vastly inferior to that of the automobile. Each car usually has a chauffeur and three or four riflemen and as it is possible to drive close to the coyote before the animal whirls in its tracks the misses are few.

The record for an afternoon's work last winter was ten coyotes for one car. As a coyote pelt is worth from $10 up, and there is a government bounty of $5 on the scalp, the bag was worth approximately $150.

Coyote hunting from automobiles has been tried on some parts of the prairie, but the uneven surface of the ground, even under snow, has made the sport rather costly. There is also a shortage of game that is discouraging from a sporting point of view. Lac La Hache does not suffer from either of these drawbacks. Even when the coyotes are killed off in one district another army soon moves in from the neighboring forests where the supply is apparently inexhaustible.

American Woman Gets Home of Ambassadors

London.—Crawe house, the home of two successive American ambassadors to Great Britain, and which was recently vacated when Ambassador Houghton moved to Morgan house, will shortly have another American chateau.

The new American mistress of the old residence, conspicuous among its Mayfair neighbors for its country residence appearance with its wide lawns and shade trees in the heart of London, will be Mrs. Saxham Drury, who before her marriage last year was Miss Mabel Gerry.

Corning, N. Y., March 31 (AP).—Abandoned in Elmira by relatives who quarrelled, Miss Freda Becker, 18, of Rochester, was returned to her home today through activity of Corning police.

The girl said she and her cousin, Richard Becker, and wife, of Rochester, drove to Elmira yesterday, and last night the couple became involved in an argument and the girl alighted when they promised to return.

They failed to call for her at 8 o'clock so the girl hired a taxi and came to Corning, but alighted at Gibson when the driver became too friendly, she said. A policeman found her sobbing at 2 o'clock this morning and took her to police headquarters and this morning a Corning man, on a trip to Rochester, offered her free transportation.

Prison Chaplain At Kiwanis Club

The Rev. S. H. Watkins, Acting Rector of St. John's Church, Tells Kiwanis Club of His Work at Chaplain in the Tombs.

The Rev. S. H. Watkins, acting rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, was the speaker of the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel this afternoon. His subject was "Seven Years of Chaplaincy in the Tombs and on Blackwell Island."

In a very interesting and illuminating manner the Rev. Mr. Watkins spoke of the recent and common sense reform measures introduced in the welfare work at New York city's penal institutions. He told how this work had been transferred from possibly 150 reformers and social uplifters to a staff of three chaplains, a Roman Catholic priest, Jewish Rabbi and a Protestant Episcopal clergyman who were authorized to that work by their respective ecclesiastical organizations. These 150 free lancers, thus displaced, literally fell over one another in their work. All of these had passed to visit the Tombs and the penitentiary situated on what was then called Blackwell Island but now known as Welfare Island.

The Rev. Mr. Watkins said it was a frequent experience to be accosted on the streets of New York city by men whose appearance indicated that they were reestablished in the social and moral order who greeted him with the salutation, "Hello, Chaplain, do you remember me?" The members gave close attention to his address and they heartily applauded him as he concluded.

In addition to number of local guests several out-of-town Kiwanians were present. The delegation consisting of fifteen men who attended the inter-club meeting at Schenectady reported splendid and inspiring meeting.

"Dick" Marchant was the winner of a shirt which was the attendance prize for the day.

Sailors Owe Sextant

to Chance Happening

The element of chance plays an important part in invention, and in no case is this more strikingly illustrated than in that of Thomas Godfrey, the American who improved upon the quadrant, or, rather, devised the sextant, the basic notion for which he got by noting the reflection of the sun from a pall of water.

Godfrey was a glazier by trade, but he had a taste for mathematics and was a man of some culture.

John Hadley had also invented a sextant, apparently a development of a suggestion of Newton's, found among his papers at his death. Godfrey anticipated Hadley by about one year, but for a long time his claims were not recognized. Hadley receiving the entire credit.

The glazier thus received his inspiration for the instrument that was to prove of such value to mariners, one day while replacing a pane of glass in a window of a house in Philadelphia opposite a pump he saw a girl after filling her pail put it on a sidewalk. The observant glazier saw the sun reflected from the window on which he had been at work into the bucket of water. His mind quickly perceived the significance of the situation and he was thus led to the design of an instrument "for drawing the sun down to the horizon," a device incomparably superior to any that had hitherto been used for the ascertainment of angular measurements.

Livy Manuscript Lost

in Confusion at Fire

At the occurrence of a great fire in a commercial building about 1800, says the Market for Exchange, a great portion of the furniture and a number of books were thrown into the street. It is supposed that just at that time the secretary of the French embassy happened to be passing, and on so was edging his way through the crowd he caught a man going at a large pile which he had just picked up.

The diplomat, upon looking over the man's shoulder, saw that it was a manuscript of Livy. He asked to examine it some closely, and upon doing so discovered that it contained the second as well as the first decade, and very probably all that is lost to us. He advised the man a goodly sum if he would convey the book under his long coat and follow him to his residence. The man agreed; but in the confusion and crowd they were separated and so it was that the secretary lost the opportunity of discovering one of the world's greatest treasures.

Value to his own reward, but this was more publicly.

Actress Wears Beaver Trimming on Pony Coat

This attractive sport coat is worn by Patsy Ruth Miller, motion-picture star, in her new picture, "What Every Girl Should Know." It is a white-spotted tan ponyskin, straightline effect, with beaver collar.

Fit of Hat Important, Asserts Paris Modiste

"The fit of a hat is quite as important as the fit of frock or suit," declares Madame Le Monnier, famous Paris modiste. In an interview published by the Woman's Home Companion, she explains:

"To pick up a hat from the milliner's table and walk out in it is probably more difficult than to find a ready-to-wear dress. While hats differ little in color, fabric or form for the young woman or the older one, their careful and becoming adjustment to the head is important."

"To be graceful, youthful and becoming, to say nothing of chic, a hat must sit down comfortably and easily all around the head. It must fit so snugly that the sharpest, most sudden gust of wind cannot dislodge it. But at the same time it must not be so tight that the eyes seem to bulge or an ugly ridge is left on the forehead."

Her final conclusion is that too large or too small a headsize in a hat is as unbecoming and dowdy as a baggy coat or one that fits too tightly.

England Makes Changes in Lingerie Fashions

There is a marked change in English lingerie fashions. The latest designs demand that before everything else "undies" should be feminine, even to the extent of the return of that much despised garment, the petticoat. Rounder caps also are creeping back to favor. Yokes, which have so long been featured on frocks, are now seen on under things. Crepe de chine is a favorite material. Nightgowns are being made with square necks. Lace and scallops are used to get the "feminine" effect. Pink still retains its superiority as a favored color.

Fourreau Is Taking On Additional Importance

A good foundation underneath is what one must have nowadays to be well dressed. Consequently, the fourreau, or slip, is taking on additional importance. This is especially true since the vogue for fringe is growing steadily. Some of these dresses have the skirt entirely composed of long silk fringe, worn over a slip of a contrasting shade. One costume brought back from Paris by a Philadelphia society woman has both skirt and bodice entirely composed of silk fringe, separated by a broad waist and big band of satin embroidered in silver.

Color Combinations in Many Winsome Schemes

With the trend that placed a cliff on skirt over a contrasting slip in full swing, color combinations must be chosen subjects of constant study. The designers have worked some charming schemes. Some of these are navy blue and a lavender blue, navy and warm pink, black and two shades of gray, black and a golden beige and black, navy green and pearl gray.

Floresces

Floresces are among the most popular trimmings for daytime as well as evening dresses. Frequently they are the only adornments used on silk or tulle frocks. The floresces are of the same material as the dress and are pinned on above the elbow. There is a distinct tendency to follow with the floresces lifted at the front.

Coloring Electric Globes

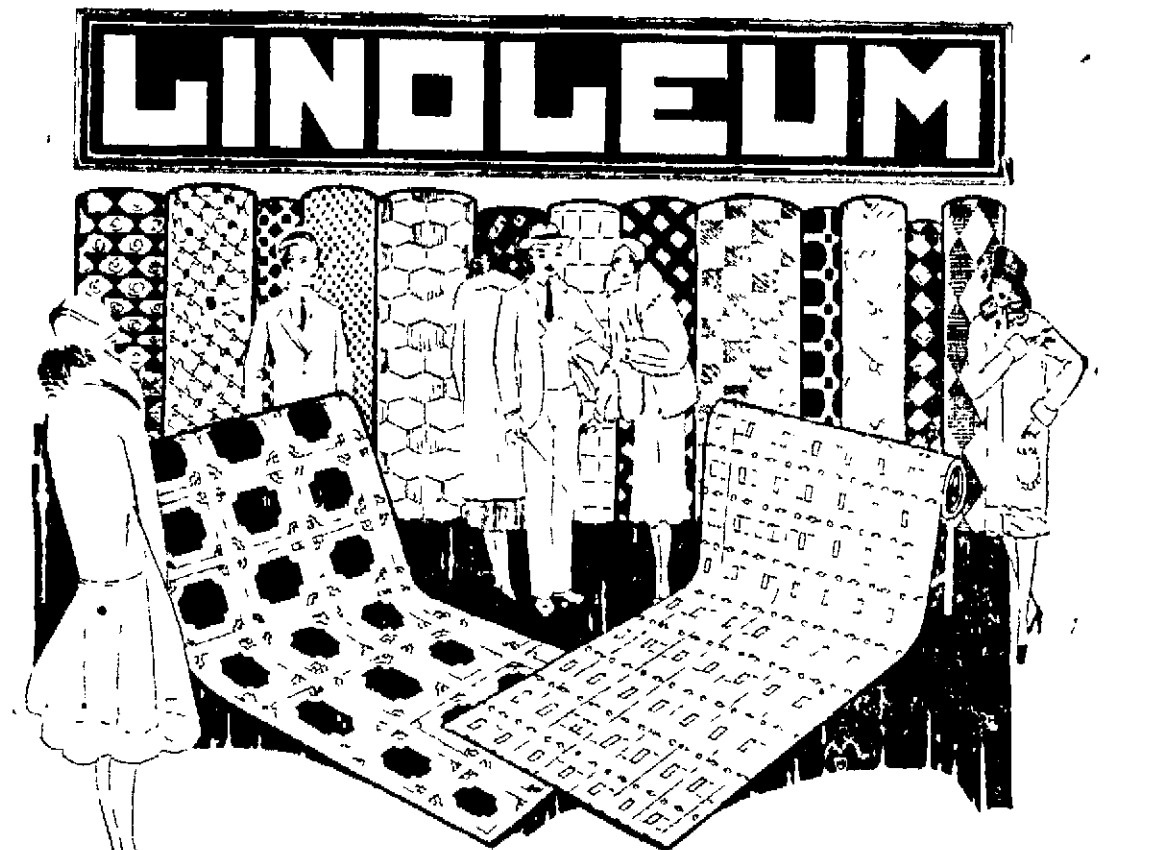

Electric incandescent globes may be easily colored by dipping globes into a solution of various powders which are rubbed on with a soft brush. The colors are permanent and do not fade.

THE FORTY-EIGHT HOUR LAW.

The long agitation over enactment of legislation protecting women and minors in industry has been terminated temporarily at least, by enactment of a law limiting employment of the persons designated to 48 hours per week where there is no half holiday intervening. Forty-nine and one half hours per week is specified where the half holiday is recognized, and the employer is permitted 78 additional hours per year, to be distributed as desired, provided any one week's work does not exceed 54 hours.

In addition, the legislature extended the benefits of workmen's compensation laws by increasing the basis of weekly wage to twenty-five dollars, together with increase of maximum in temporary total disability and temporary partial disability.

These changes in the state labor laws were recommended as the result of an orderly and searching legislative investigation of industrial conditions sponsored by the Republican party. Testimony of employees and employers alike was considered as a basis for drafting statutes of benefit to both.

UNNOTED NANKING NEWS

The later Nanking news cuts down the casualty list to one American and one Englishman killed and several foreigners wounded. And what about the Chinese non-combatants? Concern for our own nationals caused an inconspicuous statement in the Associated Press dispatches to be overlooked in the first reading. According to this statement, when our marines were first put ashore at Nanking "the main batteries" of the American destroyers were turned "for nearly twenty minutes" into "the thickly populated areas of the city" to lay down a barrage. What sort of a holocaust did the projectiles from these guns create in a crowded city of 400,000 Chinese during those deadly "twenty minutes"? The most sluggish imagination can find abundant material to work upon.

The Americans and other foreign residents, too slow to move out and then caught between two Chinese armies actively engaged, would have been in peril even if there had been no wrought-up anti-foreign ill feeling. These latter may be regarded as fortunate that their situation became no worse. With civil war raging in China such incidents are to be expected—until ordinary prudence drives all the foreigners to places of safety. The chief sufferers appear to have been the non-combatant Chinese of Nanking during the twenty minutes in which the main batteries of the American destroyers were busy. Probably we shall never know the total of the native loss of life from this cause, and we can only hope that the story, as it spreads, will not cause anti-foreign outbreaks at other points.

A "TYPICAL" EVANGELIST.

The review of "Elmer Gantry" in the New York Times Book Review concludes with the remark that when you have finished this new novel by Sinclair Lewis "you are inclined to feel that nothing could be much worse than Christianity as it is currently preached and practiced." If the aim is a picture of Christianity as "currently preached and practiced," then Elmer Gantry is presented, not as a possible exception, an extreme case, but as typical of the body of Protestant ministers in this country. What sort of a character, then, is this presumably "typical" preacher?

suffering from a hangover, or sated with women." All through he was "the same Elmer Gantry: always ignorant, dishonest, supremely selfish, and cynically adulterous." Of Sharon Falconer, Gantry's companion in evangelistic adventures, originally only an "uneducated, ambitious rough-neck girl," we read that her history "furnishes opportunity for a detailed and infinitely entertaining account of one of those great evangelistic roadshows that infest this country, trailing from city to city, dragging out alleged converts by thousands in the hysteria of revival that rarely endures overnight, and leaving town after cleaning up all the loose change of the faithful in the last night's free-will offering."

It may be granted that Elmer Gantry, as an individual instance, is sufficiently faithful to known facts, but if he is presented as typical of the Protestant clergy, as the review indicates—what is this but embittered mud-slinging at organized Christianity itself?

CURING IRRITABILITY AND INSANITY.

I speak frequently about the number of cures that take place now in our hospitals for the insane.

In the New England States some surprising results have been obtained by the careful overhauling of each patient when he arrives.

In addition to the "history" that is sent in by the family physician, another careful searching for conditions other than mental is undertaken.

Thus teeth growing in the wrong direction, infected teeth and tonsils, an overuse of the wrong kinds of food, have all been found to be the causation factors in many cases.

A French physician, dealing with mental cases, was able to show that in 172 cases showing extreme irritability, worry, and dread, 123 had "colitis," which is an inflammation of the last portion of the large intestine.

There was no other condition that could be held responsible for the above mental symptoms.

Some folks have a tendency to have an increase of acids in the blood, and others an increase in alkalis, and too much of either can cause fermentation and putrefaction of the waste matter in this part of intestine.

Now what is the original cause of this inflamed condition of the lining of intestine?

Occasionally it may be due to something of a poisonous nature taken in as food, but nearly all cases can be traced to constipation, or to taking of severe drugs to correct constipation.

And the treatment? This should start right at the mouth where bad teeth or pyorrhea should be treated, the proper number of chewing or grinding teeth provided, regularity of eating hours established, some bending exercises taken. A daily walk, fruits and vegetables, or a little mineral oil occasionally, should about right the condition. We would all be just a little more sane, and free from "irritability," if we obeyed these simple rules.

WHY.

Shedding of Tears Is Something of Mystery

"Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean," says the poet. But the physiologist will not acknowledge such ignorance. He knows that tears are a secretion of the lachrymatory glands that flow over the eyeball and are drained off into the nose. Everybody knows that the fluid is somewhat salty and slippery and so serves to lubricate the eyeball and wash away any particles of dirt which may have fallen on it.

But what has more recently been found out is that tears have also a considerable antiseptic power and so protect this sensitive surface from disease germs from the air, writes Edwin E. Slomson, director of science service, in Collier's. They contain a certain ferment known as lysozyme which gives the tear fluid the power to destroy microbes even when diluted with water 6,000,000 times.

But why the lachrymatory glands will sometimes function so freely as to flood the drainage system and overflow upon the cheeks at the sound of certain words or a certain tone of voice or the sight of a certain telegram or item in the newspaper—that the physiologist does not know and the psychologist will not tell him because they are not on speaking terms as yet. Once these two get their heads together we shall begin to find out something.

Why Turkish Language Makes Little Appeal

There is little likelihood that Turkish ever will become familiar to those who speak English, even though Latin script is substituted for the present national characters, as advocated by the Ankara government, observes the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian. Turkish sentence structure is almost the reverse order of English practice. Sir Charles Elliot, in discussing these difficulties, cites as a typical Turkish sentence: "Capital and Varna between running Lord of Company of Vulcan steamer on Steam bul to coming are we." Read it backwards and the meaning is clear, but to undertake such a task with every sentence in a book or article would appall any linguist.

How Temperature Is Shown

The weather bureau says that both the glass of the thermometer and the mercury, or other fluid, in it expand with increase of temperature and contract with decrease of temperature. For equal changes of temperature the expansion or contraction of the enclosed liquid is greater than that of the glass. When the bulb is put into hot water the glass wall heats first, and it in turn heats the enclosed fluid. Of course, the wall does not heat up fully before any heat gets to the mercury, say, but during the first half second, or so, it is distinctly warmer than the mercury. At first, then, the glass, being much more heated than the mercury, is more expanded. Hence the mercury falls to some extent. Quickly, however, the heat gets to the mercury, and it expands faster than the glass, and therefore rises.

Why Frost Makes "Pictures"

Frost crystallizations have a great variety and the formation of each of the various types seems to depend upon meteorological and other conditions—some of them obscure. On window panes three types generally form, the granular, crystalline and membranous. The last variety forms only in heated rooms on panes covered with an uncoagulated film of water, as a dewlike condensation of moisture. It occurs most frequently in the form of long, curving, featherlike ferns or a network of lines. This is due to the process of crystallization taking place during the conversion of a film of water into ice. The crystalline variety forms only on panes that are free from water in liquid form.

Why We "Touch Wood"

One theory of the origin of the old superstition of touching or rapping on wood is that it came from the ancient game called "touching wood." According to the superstitions reflected in the game, a player who succeeds in touching wood was safe from capture. Thus to touch wood is to avert an evil.

Another equally plausible theory of its origin is that in the long, long ages there were supposed to harbor spirits. Because of this belief the savages of those days considered it lucky to touch a tree. While the body touched a tree the spirit of that tree protected it and no harm could come to it. Such games as wood tag or tree tag and the wood-touching superstitions are said to have come from this belief.

How Earth Travels

The velocity of a given point of the earth's surface at the equator exceeds 1,000 miles an hour, moving 24,000 miles in 24 hours. The velocity of the earth in its orbit round the sun is about 68,000 miles an hour, which gives 564,000 miles in 24 hours, 6 hours and 5 minutes, which is the time required for the earth to complete its journey round the sun, which is the measure of a year.

Why Flowers Have Scent

The fragrance of flowers is due to special secretions or oils which the plant produces. These oils are complicated compounds of only rare elements, carbon and hydrogen, and are known as volatile oils, since they escape readily into the air.

There is a book belonging to the family of prince de Ligne of France that is neither written nor printed. The letters of the text are cut out of each page along the front margin, and being interwoven with wire paper, it is as easy to read as print.

THE NET ROSE DE STYLE AND THE COLORED LACE GOWN WITH A CONTRASTING UNDER-DRESS GIVES VARIETY TO THE DANCE FROCK, WHICH IS SO OFTEN SPANGLED

Palm Beach.—The all-lace gown has staged a remarkable re-entry into the social affairs of both Europe and America. There are gold and silver laces that are necessarily rather elaborate, but there are black and more important still, colored laces that, it is of exceptional interest to record, are frequently worn over colored slips.

A color scheme that appears to be liked by Palm Beach involves a lovely blue and an equally lovely lavender, so that one immediately thinks of a beautiful hydrangea bush in looking at it. A gown of old blue lace over a lavender crepe satin slip was further elaborated by bands of sequins of soft rose, lavender, and blue. For it is deemed desirable these nights to embellish the lace dress with either sequins or crystals, adding them in a sort of studded effect or as bands.

MARCEL ROCHAS ADOPTS CHIFFON AND LACE

The Bloused Silhouette and Full Skirt. Achieved by Means of Godets. Is emphasized by Marcel Rochas in a White Chiffon Frock Embellished with Silver Lace on Which Gold Thread Appears.

A soft lace gown in a flattering color is a "bride's-mother" sort of gown. Now that the fast kindly surplus neck-line has returned, the woman of full figure finds it less difficult to select a good model than in those trying days (to her) when nothing but the chemise gown appeared.

The novelty lace gown, especially over color, has brought in its wake net dresses, which this season are often in two colors, as in everything else. A very striking net dress made of alternating bands of black and white deserves mention. The skirt consisted of two rather wide frills, the lower one being black, and the bodice was horizontally striped in black and white.

Silver or gold embroidered net gowns are dainty, and are worn rather more in Europe than here. The net dress is frequently used for the robe de style, white being especially lovely. Flesh color net with old blue is a delightful combination.

Immense Loss Deposed

In the northwestern part of the United States there is an area of almost 200,000 square miles of solid lava due to prehistoric volcanic eruptions.

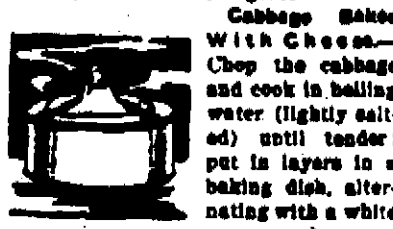

The KITCHEN CABINET

(By 1927, Western Newspaper Union.)

If a man finds himself with bread in both hands, he should exchange one loaf for some flowers of the narcissus, since the loaf feeds the body indeed, but the flowers feed the soul.—M. Bonham.

SOME COMMON DISHES

The following are a few ways of serving the common vegetables:

Cabbage Sauce.—Chop the cabbage and cook in boiling water (lightly salted) until tender; put in layers in a baking dish, alternating with a white sauce and grated cheese and bake long enough to melt the cheese.

Carrots in Lemon Butter.—Cut carrots into long slender strips and lay in cold water for a few minutes to become crisp. Cook in a little boiling water until very tender, cooking down to evaporate all the liquid. Season with salt, a half teaspoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of butter and a little cayenne to a pint of the carrots. Simmer until the butter is absorbed, then add lemon juice to taste with a little minced parsley. Boil up and serve at once very hot.

Turnip and White Sauce.—Wash and slice the turnips into half-inch slices, pare and cut the slices into cubes. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Make a cupful of seasoned white sauce and add to the drained turnips. Serve hot.

French Peas.—Shell one and one-half quarts of green peas, place in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter, a small onion, a heart of lettuce finely chopped, salt and pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of water. Cover tightly and simmer one hour, stirring from time to time. When the peas are soft, remove the onion and add two egg yolks beaten with a little cream. Let boil up once, stirring constantly, and serve at once.

Stuffed Tomatoes.—Scald even-sized tomatoes and remove the ships. Cut a slice from the top of each and scoop out the center. Chop these bits with small mushrooms which have been parboiled, add bread crumbs and seasoning with a few chopped nuts. Fill the tomatoes with this mixture, sprinkle well with seasoning and chopped parsley and place in a buttered baking dish to bake about fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Close-Fitting Hat Is Popular Paris Fashion

Small, close-fitting hats of satin and straw are the vogue for spring, according to the showings in Paris. Hat at top is of satin with novelty trimming; center, beret of felt with cut-out trimming; bottom, felt, with Italian straw, lace and gold.

Fashion Ideas That Will Appeal to Women

A group of fur coats gives the effect of a suit. This is achieved by the use of two furs, an undercoat of one, and a short jacket of another. One such costume is of pony and nutria; the pony forms the skirt and extends up in a panel to the inner collar. The nutria forms the short outer jacket.

A stunning purse is of leather with a parrot in brilliant coloring applied on. A squat umbrella with a parrot head handle may be carried with the purse.

A stunning hat, called a "Chapeau Claque," resembles the style of Louis XI. It is of very soft supple felt and has a tasseled ornament of grograin ribbon.

A white velvet gown is lined with silver and trimmed with a border of white fox on the skirt and a bow of silver ribbon on one side.

An orange jersey blouse striped in green, white, black and rust, is worn with a box-plated skirt of the orange jersey with a raised border of the stripes.

A stunning two-piece frock is of green velveteen with rows of gold stitching at the neck and waist.

A luxurious evening wrap is made of black and silver lame, trimmed with bands of soft chinchilla. The scarf collar is a loose border, which hangs down the under side when the cape is left open.

Pie tucks and large box plaits are the odd combination of trimming on an afternoon frock of crepe de chine.

White taffeta brocaded in gold and banded in green yellow makes a picturesque frock.

Tailleurs Definitely Back on Fashion List

The tailored suit has definitely come back. As a matter of fact, it has never gone out with a certain type of smart woman, but there is no denying the fact that for the past few seasons its position has been one of minor importance compared to the ensemble costume. Many women, especially those whose allowance did not permit a number of street costumes, found the frock with its matching or harmonizing coat better adapted to their needs than the suit.

This year it is a different story. The tailor, either of mannish simplicity or in a more feminine version which combines a coat of plain material with a skirt of patterned fabric, is the smartest costume for spring.

A number of the best dressed women have already appeared in the smart new tailored suits worn when weather permits, with the silver fox or sable scarf and with all its appointments perfect to the smallest detail. A clever model that is destined for success is almost an exact reproduction of a tuxedo jacket suit, even to the broad down each side of the skirt and the buttoned lapels.

Equally smart is the complete suit which is particularly flattering to youthful women. A suit of this type is made of a fabric which is black on one side and black and white check on the other. The plain side is used for the coat, while the checked is used for the skirt and for facings.

Spring Coat Styles

Some time ago it was rumored that the coats for spring would show a tendency toward broad effects. They were to be a bit more wide in line than the relatively fitted models of two seasons ago, but the fact was to be in evidence. These rumors apparently had little foundation, for the new models introduced for the spring season are unquestionably straight in line.

Love Shooting

Countess De Janze, the former Alice Silverthorne, of Chicago, shot and wounded Raymond del Trafford, in a train in Paris, and then turned the gun on herself. Both were in a serious condition. The shooting was reported to have been caused by the young man's intention of ending their romance.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

A MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BAD MANNERED PIG

"Oh, Daddy, won't you tell us please, a story about yourself when you were a little boy?" asked Nick.

"Well, children, I can't tell you very much that I did, this evening, about the time when I was a boy.

"I lived on a farm as I have often told you and my daddy kept me very busy, very, very busy, attending to a good many of the animals.

"I had lots of fun, though, and I remember it all with a lot of pleasure.

"I was always so fond of animals.

"Of course, like all children, I had my pet animals, and, now, which do you suppose were my pets?"

"The white rabbits," chirped up Nick.

"Oh, no," said Daddy, "I claimed the pigs."

"One little pig, though, caused me a great deal of trouble and worry.

"He also gave his fond mother, I am sure, many sleepless nights, for he was a great pover and would sneak out of his sty and roam the woods over and over.

"He did have fine old times, though, for in the woods he'd meet good-natured Mr. Bear, who took quite a shine to little Look-a-do, as his mother called him, and gave fine parties for him.

"They would have fine things to eat—all kinds of wild food, acorn pudding, wonderful peanut bread that old Mr. Bear prided himself upon making, honey and a honey drink which they thought better than lemonade, I am sure.

"The foxes, as you know, are very careful about their table manners.

"But the bears and others at the party were also careful about their table manners, and also extremely proud and were quite disgusted with little Piggy Look-a-do's table manners.

"Instead of saying, 'Thank you,' he'd just grunt when anything was passed to him.

"He swallowed his food without chewing it at all.

"He would reach across the table, and if he couldn't reach a thing he'd climb on the table, much to the horror of all the other animals.

"Well, in fact, he behaved so badly that all his other nice-mannered playmates simply would not have anything to do with him, and just called him 'pig'.

"Even Mr. Bear couldn't like him because of his bad manners, and finally he just had to go out and roam in the ground for something to eat.

"Of course, when he did that he ruined his lovely little clothes, his white shoes and trousers became all muddy, and his little speckled coat got very rusty looking.

"Piggy Look-a-do realized that he was losing his good looks, for his little pink nose looked white and his eyes very dull.

"He was too proud to return home to his mother, so he wandered through the woods trying to find something to eat.

"Finally he came to an apple orchard belonging to a mountaineer.

"This was the end of poor Piggy Look-a-do, for the next day he was killed and came on the table roasted nice and brown, with a big red apple in his mouth, and made a fine feast for the old mountaineer and his family.

In what color should a secret be kept? In violet (in violet).

Why are seeds when sown like caterpillars? Because they propagate (propagate).

Though I dance at a ball, yet am I nothing at all. A shadow.

Why is your shadow like a false friend? Because it only follows you in sunshine.

Why is a ship like a handkerchief? Because it has stood many a blow and has often been round the horn.

Why did the cornfield? Because it saw the cricket-bat.

If two soldiers march past two officers, what time of day does it represent? Ten past two.

Why is a trumpet the most good tempered of all instruments? It will take a blow from any one.

ALTHOUGH HEM AND AMY ARE GREATLY PUZZLED OVER THE STRANGE LETTER, ABOUT MONEY, FROM A LAWYER IN ASHTOWN, OTHER PEOPLE WHO HAVE NOT EVEN SEEN IT ARE HAVING LITTLE DIFFICULTY IN SOLVING THE MYSTERY.

WHEN A LAWYER MENTIONS MONEY IN A LETTER TO ANYBODY, AND THEY DON'T GET EXCITED OVER IT, YOU DON'T NEED A PENCIL AND PAD TO FIGURE OUT WHAT HE SAID ABOUT THE MONEY.

BECAUSE THE WRIST PINS HOLD 'EM DOWN.

WHY CAN'T A KNIGHT ENGINE ROLL UP ITS SLEEVES?

HEM IS SO USED TO GETTING LETTERS FROM A LAWYER THAT THEY MEAN NO MORE TO HIM THAN MASH NOTES TO A MOVIE STAR.

AMY BOASTED TO HER WIFE THAT HEM HAD A SUIT FOR EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK. SO MY WIFE SAYS, WHO IS HIS TAILOR? HIS LAWYER? GET IT...?

I HEARD THAT HEM WAS ARRESTED IN A ROUND-UP OF SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS IN ASHTOWN LAST FALL. HE TALKED THE CHIEF OF POLICE INTO FURNISHING HIS BAIL, AND THEN SKIPPED OUT.

I HEARD HE CASHED A CHECK, AND WHEN THEY TRIED TO FIND THE BANK IT WAS DOWN BY THE RIVER.

HOW ABOUT SOME GAS, BUDDY? THIS AIN'T NO POWER HOUSE FOR ELECTRICS.

I FEEL SORRY FOR AMY. IF SHE'S AT THE PARTY TONIGHT, I'M GOING UP TO HER AND SAY, RIGHT IN FRONT OF EVERYBODY, I'M SO SORRY TO HEAR HEM IS IN THE CLUTCHES OF A LOAN-SHARK. I KNOW WHAT IT IS FROM THE EXPERIENCE MY HUSBY HAD BUYING MY WEDDING RING.

LISTEN, VIDA. WHY MUST YOU BRAG THAT MY EVERYBODY IS FORGETTING THE BIG LAUGH THEY GOT OVER THAT PHONEY OIL STOCK I BOUGHT, YOU WANT TO HAND 'EM ANOTHER BIG HA- HA BY SHOWING ME UP AGAIN.

A tramp in the rain, that's some madder!

WAS SO STIFF AND SORE HE COULD HARDLY BEND

As good as new next morning after simple home treatment

After tramping around all day with wet feet while out gunning, a Philadelphia sportsman found himself so stiff and lame he could hardly bend.

"I went to work but had to come home," he writes. "I applied Sloan's Liniment freely and went to bed. I was as good as new next morning, thanks to the quick and sure action of Sloan's."

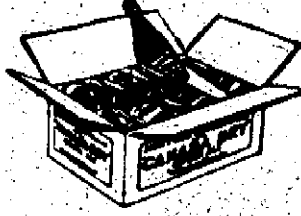

Sloan's gives real relief because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It helps the body to throw off the cause of the pain.

Apply a little lightly, without rubbing. Right away the stiffness and pain ease up, as fresh healing blood is sent to the sore spot.

Get a bottle of Sloan's today and have it on hand for the first emergency. All druggists—35 cents.

Wendell Phillips, president of the Port Jervis Rotary Club, was a visitor at the weekly luncheon of the Kingston Rotarians this week and at his suggestion arrangements were begun for an interchange of visits in the near future, a delegation from Kingston to visit Port Jervis and conduct the meeting of that club one week and a Port Jervis delegation to come to this city and perform a similar duty here the next week. Home Life Almost Lost.

The speaker of the day was the Rev. Ignatius Bialdys, pastor of the Polish Catholic Church of the Immaculate Conception, who discussed some of the things that have made America great and that must be returned to and continued if the country is to remain great. We must not lose sight of the primary agencies, the speaker said, in our contemplation of the showy, temporary material things and the latest thrills and sensations of life. First of these basic things is the home and we should return to the almost lost old-fashioned home life, in which there is a real home influence. We scarcely know what a home is any more, we are so busy with other things. We are born in a hospital, we live in a hotel and we are buried from a funeral parlor, yet it is to the old time home influence that we owe much of the character building that made our nation great, and unless that home influence is restored we cannot continue great.

Real Education.

Another element is education, not mere passing of examinations and gaining of certificates, but thorough and practical training in the fundamentals. Our schools are so full of frills that many graduates have never had time to learn to spell. Education is not merely the collecting of an assortment of knowledge that one can get from any encyclopedia when required, but should be a thorough training in basic studies.

Church Not a Sect.

The third primary agency in making our people great is the church in which we unite for the good of the country and the world. The church is not any one sect, but the church of your conscience. Without spiritual experience, life and guidance, our nation cannot remain great. We must return to these three things if we are to maintain our supremacy and our virtues that have made us what we are.

Appreciate Our Heritage.

One cannot see a mountain from its top, and you who have all your lives enjoyed the high privileges of being Americans cannot understand and appreciate the heritage that is yours as can one who has come in from outside, leaving behind him home and family ties, to become an American citizen. One with that background estimates at their true value the rights and joys of being an American and such a one realizes the power and the character of America, which is like that of an immense electric power plant, potentially powerful, ready, but inert until the need arises and someone presses the button and starts it in motion.

The speaker was heartily applauded.

Kingston District Conference

year, a simultaneous presentation of the most benevolent needs of the church will be made on definite Sundays throughout the year in harmony with a carefully worked out plan to be presented in the near future to every pastor and official board on the district. Following the pulpit presentation, appropriate literature will be distributed throughout our constituency. This should help.

Better to Remove Doubt.

Perhaps here is as good a place as any to inject a bit of rank heresy. It concerns the use of home missionary money in our churches. It will become a district superintendent who has tried very hard to get as large a grant as possible, to seem to bite the hand that is feeding him. But I verily believe that the sooner this idea is removed, the better for the churches now receiving it. It is poor as some of our small congregations feel themselves to be, there is not a single one that could not if they half tried, raise the hundred or two hundred dollars that now they receive for pastors from the Missionary Society.

CHEST COLDS
Relieves the pain and tightness by rubbing the chest with BAUME BENGUÉ. Excellent for head cold, too.
BAUME BENGUÉ
ANALGESIQUE (SAY BEN-OAY)

As it is, they now slacken their efforts by the exact amount of the missionary aid received, and by just that amount lessen their power to give. If they only realized it, they lose in self respect much more than they gain in cash. What we thus receive is not aid, but shoulder braces which once worn are likely to become a habit. Furthermore this so-called aid engenders a spirit of restlessness in neighboring churches, and militates against generous giving to the World Service cause. How can we expect sacrificial giving for missionary causes, when a portion of every sacred dollar thus given is destined not to pass beyond the bounds of this favored Empire State? And what is our missionary need compared to the needs that should be met in India, China and Africa? It is not the wine drunk, but the wine poured out that stimulates the soul.

Mortgages and Notes Paid.

Mortgages and notes have been paid in part or in full in several corners of the district. Clinton Avenue, Kingston, has reduced its debt by $2,500, and Port Ewen $1,300. Saugeities has wiped out the last remaining $1,400. In like manner Cairo, Hobart, Prattville, New Baltimore and Woodstock have cleared the slate and added still other improvements which have been paid for. It is very easy to write about this, but Captains Coddington, Gorse, Hannum, Parker, Peckham, Reith, Thorn, and Van Idersdine, with their gallant crews sailed stormy seas and weathered many a gale in the accomplishment of these great tasks. This but a step from the payment of old indebtedness to the improvement of plant and structure. What a multitude of operations!

Pumps and shingles and cellar doors. Memorial windows and hard-wood floors. A bell in the steeple to ring the news. New lights, new carpets, and brand new pews. New bath rooms shiny, and cesspools deep. Stoves and furnaces, warm to keep. Mortgages burned and paper and paint—
"Twas a year to work and not to faint!"

Almost $40,000 Expended.

Almost $40,000 has been raised in cash and expended on a multitude of improvements on churches and parsonages, on fifty of our charges. Money and muscle have gone freely into the work, on the part of men, women and their pastors. I will not record the various amounts, for figures fail to record the sacrifice involved. The four figure amount of the city church often is smaller than three figures of a small country parish. Here follows the roll of much honor—Andes, Atkville, Ashokan, Athens, Blenheim, Bloomville, Cairo, Catskill, Cornwallville, Coxsack, Delhi, Dormansville, Esopus, Fleischmanns, Franklin, Glasco, Grand Gorge, Greenville, Haines Falls, Harpersfield, Hobart, Hunter, Jefferson, Clinton Avenue and St. James, Kingston, Leeds, Malden, Manorville, Margaretville, New Baltimore, Oak Hill, Olive Bridge, Palenville, Phoenixia, Pine Hill, Prattville, Ravens, Round Top, Roxbury, South Bethlehem, South Rondout, Stamford, Saugeities, Tannersville, Treadwell, Walton, West Fulton, Windham and Woodstock.

These all or some point on the various circuits mentioned have beautified their places of worship or have made more comfortable the homes of their pastors. Other improvements. Memorial windows at Phoenixia, tell their story of loving remembrance, as does a sweet toned bell in the spire at Durham. This latter is the gift of Mrs. William Rogers, whose fine husband, for many years a faithful follower of Christ, passed away early in the year. Space and the proprieties forbid extended and detailed reference to all these good works.

Nor will space permit more than a passing sentence of tribute to a goodly number of faithful yoke-fellows among the laymen who this past year have quietly folded their tents and have silently gone on to that land of many mansions. Their works do praise them. As one by one large mantles fall from weary shoulders, may God give us size and strength to wear them for a while.

John E. Parker, English soldier, Christian worker and American preacher of a high order, retires this year after many years of splendid service. We shall miss him from the active ranks.

Work of Women.

My timid typewriter hesitates to attempt anything like extended comment on the work of the Kingston district women's organizations. They say that daily increasing signs all promise that practically every thing that at present differentiates women from men shall soon disappear and women shall become as men in matters of employment and impact on life, and in reaction to life's influences. God forbid! Should that gloomy day arrive, get out your paint brushes and in large letters write "Ichabod" across the front of things in your churches, for on that day your glory will have departed and two life-sustaining agencies of our Methodism will be dead—the Ladies' Aid Society, and the Women's Missionary Organization. Home and Foreign. No one can overestimate the heroic work of the Ladies' Aid Societies in maintaining the church. No one can estimate the amount of toil and willing sacrifice that goes into their work. We are here in this Conference today, because the women thus for generations have kept the fires burning. God bless them.

The Missionary Societies.

As to the W. F. M. S. and the W. M. S. on the Kingston District their work and accomplishments are well recorded in their frequent reports to their higher-ups. Enough here to say that membership seems to be increasing, new organizations are coming into life, and many junior organizations are functioning well. No slump here. If secret of their success is sought, we need not go beyond the inspired words of a great missionary—"Attempt great things for God; expect great things from God." Occasionally some male survival of a darker age lifts a wavering voice of protest lest the money raised by these missionary women shall in some way cripple the giving of the church to World Service. It is a pleasure to tell such that the cold records of the case always show that where the women are most zealous in their work for missions, there the general contributions from the church at large are most satisfactory.

Live Romance.

I spoke of romances in the beginning of this report. Our hills and valleys and villages and cities teem with them. Here a pastor wrote a beautiful tale with paint brushes and ladder. He excelled the painters at their own job. A beautiful plant tells the story. There upon those fields another pastor wrote a romance with his snow shoes as he outwitted the mountain blizzard. Yonder in her pain a good woman died happy, because of the romance her pastor wrote in terms of loving ministrations. The Jews over there wrote a romance as with willing hearts they poured their gifts into the treasury of a Christian church for the carrying on of the work. Little Jewish children are learning the Romance of Romances around the knees of this faithful paragon mother.

I mentioned miracles. Our hospital plays the roll of the Great Physician as a matter of course and doctors and nurses never give the matter a second thought. But when we study one of these miracles, close up, we feel that we stand again on holy ground. This faithful pastor found life's shutters more and more closely drawn until at the time of our last Conference session, night had settled down in earnest. Then the hospital took a hand. Weeks later this minister walked, unaided, into his church and for the first time beheld the pulpit in which for a year he had proclaimed the gospel of everlasting light. He saw for the first time his friends and parishioners. The New Testament story of restored sight does not surpass this. All the hospital knows is that another series of operations on a man's eyes has been successfully completed. But I know lots more than that. Let me read from his report, under "Items of Interest": "Have organized a Junior League with twenty members. Conducted a Bible Study Class in Luke. Have a new mission study class. Held an Epworth League Institute for five weeks. Have read the following books since December 1st: The Christ and the Indian Road, Alcohol and the New Age, Recreational Leadership of Boys, The Worker and His Bible, The Message of Stewardship, The How Book of Evangelism. Am doing my own house work and pastoral work in the evening when my wife lies down." For this wife who was eyes and hands and feet to her blind husband, has been stricken very, very seriously ill, the miracle came just in time.

Alert and Open Eyed.

But as I am not striving in this report to outstrip in words my distinguished brethren in the superlativity, I must close with a very real sense of having left unsaid many worth while things and of having very inadequately represented my fellow Christians, lay and ministerial, of this up-lifted district, made famous long ago by that distinguished character who, so legend says, once dwelt within our confines—Bip Van Winkle, who earned his title to fame by being a very sleepy knave. How unlike the spiritual hunters who make up the personnel of the pastoral staff of this district! These men are alert and open eyed for opportunities to serve and spend themselves in their Master's work. Most of them are in very truth great circuit-riders. Not because such as Aubury rode, ride they, but outside their tin snags they ride the mountain roads, and when creek and hill angrily tear out the roads as happened last autumn they ride the fields, and ford the bridgeless creeks.

It is a great and glorious job that demands the best of heart and nerve and muscle. Naturally and with perfect right many of them weary riders hope that at the close of this session of conference they may be sent to more level and less extended pastures. I wish all desires of this sort might be met. But whether on the mountain circuit or on the level plain, the task does not much vary, the needs are the same and the rewards that come with the day's work will come equally great.

He's what they call the circuit-man And always will be such; Constructed on the sturdiest plan With no article touch. But off, when in the Mount he goes And turns to them to leave, They say his face like Moses' glows With something from above. We know his Bible, know his God, And know his people's cry: His feet with gospel truth are shod, And on his message fly. We in a simple circuit-man No more, and mark!—no less. For he is built on God's own plan, And clothed with righteousness. (Albert Robt. Baring.)

When in Doubt, Ask the Tax Man

Where our auditors are giving information and assistance to taxpayers located in the Albany district, said John G. Malone, district director of that district, "they are frequently asked what constitutes a business deduction."

"Taxpayers in business are allowed as deductions all ordinary and necessary expenses in connection with their business pursuits. All expenses such as cost of labor, rent, freight charges, insurance, cartage, light, heat, power, telephone, telegraph costs and all other expenses which are in fact ordinary and necessary to the conduct of the business."

"When filing business return care should be taken to use the long form, 101. This form has the business schedules for listing the various expenditures. Where a taxpayer's income is solely from salary, dividends, interest, rent, etc., form 200 should be used."

"The safest thing for the taxpayer to do," continued Mr. Malone, "is to consult Auditor Terrell, who may be found at Court House, Kingston, until April 2 and who is waiting and prepared to give advice and assistance to all who require it."

DANCING SCHOOL SOCIAL AT GOLDEN RULE INN.

The pupils of the Van Bramer dancing studio enjoyed a social arranged by Mr. Van Bramer on Wednesday of last week at the Golden Rule Inn, Ulster Park. The purpose of the event was to give the students the practical phase of the training received in the studio under the direction of Mr. Van Bramer and his assistants. Music for the social was furnished by Tony Turck and his Romance of Rhythm orchestra. The same syncopaters also played for the specialty numbers presented by Mr. Van Bramer and his dancing partner, Miss Helen Cashin, for the entertainment of the guests. In their exhibition the two artists included "The Black Bottom" and several styles of tap dancing. Among the numbers of the ballroom dances was included a spot-light dance which presented a very striking aspect. A most delicious menu was served by the management of the Golden Rule Inn while the Romance of Rhythm orchestra furnished dinner music. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson acted as chaperones.

ULSTER GRANGE PLANS MEETING AND VISIT.

Cars will leave Granger's Corner at 7:15 and any one not having a way to go of their own, will find accommodations if they are at the corner on time.

The next regular meeting of Ulster Grange will be held on Wednesday evening, April 6, at 8 o'clock. There will be degree work, refreshments and the following lecturer's program: Roll call with quotations from Grange Ritual. Singing—Community Songs. Reading of School Bill by Worthy Master Klein, followed by discussion by the members.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception Wednesday afternoon and evening up to 8 o'clock was nearly perfect. In fact, from 4:30 to 6 it was pluperfect, as they used to say when Shakespeare was a young man and radio had not been discovered. At about 8 there was a general weakening of volume, especially that of the near and powerful stations. WEAJ was simply a mass of small noises. One of the toothbrush programs came well from WGY and before the trouble began WBT at Charlotte, N. C., was one of the good stations. After 10 all stations made gradual recovery from their attacks of tonalitis and "The Pirate of Penzance" was nearly faultless from WGY. Considerable static came along and joined the concert shortly after 10.

The Beechnut program from WGY was one of the good things of the evening, but lovers of real music and tender sentiment were disappointed when the promise to sing "I Married a Dog Catcher's Daughter and We Opened a Frankfurter Store" was not carried out. Such a breach of good faith should be severely punished, especially when it keeps a waiting world waiting in vain to be thrilled by a real gem of sentiment and tenderness.

Katherine Connelly, the Irish soprano, who sang at WMSG early in the evening was not the kind of soprano that makes the listener turn hastily to some other station. More of the same kind would cause fans to cease using bad language when sopranos are mentioned.

The new commission that is to clear up radio anarchy got a useful earful at its first public hearing when the matter of extending the wave band was discussed. It is evident that the commission had some leaning toward a plan to allot wave lengths from 150 meters up, regardless of the fact that only one radio set on the market is supposed to receive anything below 200 meters. Such an arrangement would deprive all stations below 200 meters of an audience unless set owners had their sets rebuilt or scrapped them and bought new ones. So neither fans nor set makers viewed the proposal favorably. The thing to do is to clean house and silence about half of the stations now on the air; also to stop needless use of super power.

The radio public likes classic music—provided that the jumble are well known. This was proved by the responses to the four Sunday afternoon Crosley chain concerts. Consequently the fifth Crosley feature which will be on the air from 3 to 6:30 o'clock Sunday, April 2, Eastern Standard Time, will consist of just this kind of selection. The program this week will be put on by The Crosley Moscow Art Orchestra which has been featured in two of Crosley programs on the chain.

On Thursday night, March station WIP will present the performance of Verdi's beautiful opera "Otello," the cast of which will be composed of international known artists of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company. The opera, played by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, will start at 8:15.

The Dual Mark Club of Vassar College will broadcast a Passion Play "Vision" on Saturday night, April 2, at 10 through microphone of WIP. This play is written by the Rev. John F. Bush, O. S. A., and is considered one of the greatest of the Biblical stories in dramatic form.

After the Ball

A finishing phase of every winter ball is the home going. In the cold gray dawn of the morning after, the variety it rains, and there is not a hint of light. Makeup and grease paint are running, parts of ruined costumes are missing, when the last lovers are separated and handshakes and kisses are not speaking. Oh, what bliss to escape to gray, and the beach—Vanity Fair.

Sob Stories Are Not Enough

Foreign Born Women Look to American Women for Sympathetic Understanding, Says Home Mission Worker at Missionary Meeting.

The main body of St. James M. E. Church was filled Wednesday evening with men and women gathered together on invitation of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the St. James M. E. Church, Clinton Avenue and the Trinity M. E. Church of the city to hear Mrs. Brummit of Evanston, Ill., talk on the subject of "America for Christ." In other words, Home Missions.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Frank Thompson of Trinity Church who presided. Mrs. Ackley followed the opening hymn with the Scripture reading and prayer. Miss Mildred Messenger and Miss Jessie Cowley sang. "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," after which the offering was taken by some of the Queen Esther girls of St. James Church, music for the offering being furnished by members of the Mandolin Club of the Y. W. C. A., playing "The Pilgrim's Chorus." Mrs. Thompson called attention to a banner that was placed in front of the pulpit, because it had been won by the Women's Home Missionary Society of St. James M. E. Church for having made a 10 percent gain in membership, subscription to magazines and money and also had met other requirements of the Kingston district. For having gained this honor, Mrs. Thompson asked for the applause of the audience which was given enthusiastically.

Mrs. Brummit's Address.
Mrs. Thompson then introduced Mrs. Daniel Brummit, an officer of the Women's Council of Home Missions of America, a trustee of the National Board, connected with the international home missionary movement and a teacher in summer schools of more than one denomination.

Mrs. Brummit proved to be a direct, forceful, very frank but inspiring speaker. She immediately assumed that all of her audience understood the big task before them when they read in their newspapers of conditions in China, Mexico, Nicaragua. Today it is no longer enough, she said, "To take America for Christ," for the sake of America, but for the sake of the ends of the earth which are looking to America to prove her Christianity. Important dates of American history, Mrs. Brummit showed to be passing milestones of achievement toward world betterment in the nations of the Old World which also pointed out our own national youth.

She had just returned from Europe and told of the nations there, especially the new-made nations since the World War, that are looking to us for Christian idealism, not to be patronized by us.

Hub Morrie Not Enough.

Mrs. Brummit was particularly thoughtful for the people of the Old World who will be coming to the United States in the near future and she said that regarding them "Sob stories are not enough. We must be tolerant of 'The Mother Tongue,' lest we bring about the tragedy of Home Missions, the alienation of the child from his mother." A group of Home Mission workers near the speaker's home had been asked to do the strange thing of sending hats and American clothes to Ellis Island, so that the men coming for their women from overseas might not be ashamed of them, and Mrs. Brummit asked how they came to be thus ashamed? Had she or her audience had any part in hurling the sensitive-ness of these foreign born men to bring about such a condition?

She told quite simply but dramatically of a foreign born woman who had lived for twenty years in what is known to Chicagoans as "Cicero." She had not learned to speak English and she hated America and doubted the womanhood of America and their homes. A home missionary asked the privilege of bringing this woman to see Mrs. Brummit in her home in Evanston and of having a meal with her. The request was granted and the guests came unexpectedly. When the visit was over, Mrs. Brummit said she realized bitterly that she had been so busy doing missionary work that she had had no time to be a living gospel to that woman who did not want her patronage but the sympathetic understanding of an American woman and a Christian American woman.

The speaker was also keenly alive to the paradox of this country being unable for the second time to protect the lives of its own children from the great Moloch of greed, while trying to teach foreign lands to be merciful to their children.

She pointed directly to the need of genuine religious training for the youth of today, as a very possible and desperately needed work of Home Missions. There is a crying need for a bridge between the old and the new and for the building of that bridge each one could make a gift of lasting value to the structure: the gift of brotherly love. Mrs. Brummit closed with a forceful appeal to all to take America for Christ, not alone for the sake of America, but for the sake of the ends of the earth.

Arranging Card For Armory Bouts

Franklin, Clever Middleweight, This Afternoon in Main Bout—Trying to Beat Gene Mack With Frankie Konchina.

The strenuous efforts of the boxing committee to produce a show that would please the spectators, met with such crowning success last Monday night at the Armory that another program will be presented on the night of April 5th. The hearty applause given each performer at the conclusion of his bout, argued well for the high character of the entertainment offered. The same earnest endeavor to please the crowds will govern the committee in selecting men for the next show.

Negotiations are under way to secure Billy Franklin, clever New York middleweight who has defeated a string of hard contestants including Chick Morlano, Mickey Perkins, Henry Shaw, Phil Chandler, Jack Tillyou, Clarence Jones, Oscar Pultz, Italian Joe Gans and Larry Estridge. Some of these men have fought in the Garden, and are strong contenders for the middleweight title.

A net has been thrown out to snare Phil Fisher, heavy slugger New Yorker, to pit against Billy Franklin in the feature ten-round bout. If these efforts are successful, many thrilling moments may be furnished when these fighters clash for supremacy. Both have powerful punches and great endurance, combined with a fine knowledge of ring fighting. The negro can take it as well as give it. Franklin is perhaps the most scientific boxer but the footwork of Fisher keeps him out of lots of trouble.

Another line has been thrown out to Gene Mack, with a tempting bait hanging from the hook. Mack has caused quite a stir around this vicinity with his pugilistic ability, and has proved a strong drawing card with the fans. He is a fighter from the start and possesses strong punches, which may come from either hand at unexpected moments. A batter who knows all the tricks of the game will be placed against Mack, who will have to extend himself at all times.

Frankie Konchina who tried to finish Charlie Fisher in the first round at the armory card, and who fought a hard even battle all the way, will receive a strong inducement to appear in the ring at the next show. Konchina has proved himself a strong fighter and has been a great drawing magnet to the ticket buyers. It is possible, but not certain, that Konchina may swap punches with Mack. Konchina knocked Mack out once and lightning may strike in the same place twice.

The management will inaugurate a new system in handling tickets. Saturday tickets will be on sale at the armory and some place downtown, which will be designated later. The ticket purchased will be the original seat and it will not be necessary to exchange them as was done before. A sectional chart of reserved seats will be at each place where tickets are sold.

The tentative program will introduce a four-round bout, two six-rounds, and a semi-final of eight rounds and a final of 10 rounds. This innovation which was introduced last Monday has received the hearty approval of the fans and will be followed again April 8.

Earth's Circumference

The distance around the world was a subject of study by the ancient Greek mathematicians. Aristotle says that mathematicians of his time found that the circumference of the earth was the equivalent of 40,000 miles. It was Eratosthenes (C. 250 B. C.) who first had an accurate idea of the principles of determining this figure. His results were inaccurate, but his method was substantially that which is still employed at the present time. The dimensions of the earth which have been very generally adopted are those of Gen. A. B. Clarke published in 1866.

In the Southern Training Camps

New York, March 31 (AP)—Rube Marquard, a great lefthander fifteen years ago, is not to end his major league career as he achieved his greatest fame—in the uniform of a New York Giant.

The tall southpaw, who turned in 19 straight victories one season for John McGraw, was told yesterday that his arm had lost its running, and there was no place for him on the Giant staff this season.

The Giants moved to Chattanooga on the first leg of the homeward journey last night. After conferences in New York believed to have sought a solution of Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis stock problem, McGraw will meet the club there. He expects to talk salary with Eddie Roush, outfield holdout, at Chattanooga, Jackson, or Memphis with rumors of a $25,000 a year compromise already in the air.

The re-vamped outfit of Wilbert Robinson is on the way home from Clearwater by way of Jacksonville and New Orleans where exhibitions are scheduled. Aside from a veteran pitching staff, Uncle Robbie will place his faith in youngsters, spread through the infield and outfield, and tested but little in major league competition.

The Yankees left St. Petersburg yesterday for another year. Four familiar figures were left behind, pitchers Pennock and Chesterfield to iron out sore arms, Catcher Bengough to help them and Tony Lazzeri to recover from a knee infection. The Yankees, because of exhibitions, will be nine days on the homeward trail.

BRUCK ALL-STARS LOSE

TO IRWIN ALL-STARS

In a very closely contested contest at the "Y" Wednesday night the Bruck All-Stars lost to the Irwin All-Stars, 45 to 43. Hard battling featured the game and the contest belonged to either team until the final whistle sounded. Several times the scorers chalked up even scores for both aggregations and the marginal lead of one team over the other alternately throughout the game was by but few markers.

The leading scorers on the Irwin team were Willis with 22 and Maroon with 15 points. Erena of the Bruck All-Stars corralled 23 markers while Kennedy trailed him with 11.

Two-hundred at boxing and wrestling bouts in Maryland pay 25 cents upon admission, which goes toward a fund to help deserving persons connected with the sport who require financial help.

The marriage of Queenberry, whose grandfather formulated the prize ring code which still forms the basis for boxing etiquette throughout the whole world, has little or no interest in prize fights.

First Perforated Stamps

Postage stamps having perforated edges, which were first produced in 1854, in Great Britain, were not used by collectors or dealers. The British government brought the patent for perforating stamps from a man named Arthur in 1858 for $25,000.

Pittsburgh Pirates Look Like Winners

While the New York Giants, with the addition of Roush, are favored for the National league pennant, the Pittsburgh Pirates cannot be discounted lightly, writes H. L. Salsinger in the Detroit News.

Pittsburgh had an excellent ball team last year. The trouble was not with the team, but with the management of the team.

There was, on the Pittsburgh team, a misunderstanding that disintegrated the outfit.

This condition has been done away with. During the coming season the Pirates are bound to be well managed.

Donie Bush will be in charge of affairs in Pittsburgh. Bush is possessed of more managerial ability than he is generally credited with.

Love Halts Career

Ethel Biebert, Brooklyn girl champion Olympic swimmer, who has given up her career following her marriage to Fred Hoegh MacRobert, New York attorney. She asked: "What's the use of swimming in water when I'm swimming in love?" Miss Biebert was a noted Olympic star.

Trotter and Pacer Race Now Valued at $20,000

New conditions have been framed for the Trotter and Pacer Stake, the three-year-old futurity sponsored by the New York publication of this name. Under the new plan the race for foals of 1927 will carry a purse of $20,000, nearly three times as large as the first stake which was held last year at Reading Pa. It is estimated that fully 1,000 mares will be mated by May 1, which is the closing date.

Heretofore the Trotter and Pacer Stake has been for trotters exclusively, but a pacer division has been provided for in the conditions for foals of 1927, with a guaranteed purse of $10,000. The trotters will race for $15,000 and the pacers for $10,000 will be set aside for distribution among the breeders of the winners. A purse of $500 also has been provided for a show-bird class, the starters to be judged on individuality.

This will be the richest three-year-old event ever staged over a half-mile track, and with the exception of the Kentucky Futurity and the Handicap, no stake it will not be exceeded in value by any race for youngsters of this age in the Grand Circuit.

ORPHANAGE FLOWER SALE TO BE REPEATED.

The demand for the hand made flowers made at the Sacred Heart Orphanage at West Park, which were placed on sale last Saturday at the store of S. Cohen's Sons on Wall street, was so great that Mrs. David Schebeck and Mrs. James Connelly, who conducted the sale last week, will again place an elaborate assortment on sale Saturday afternoon. These flowers, which are so real in appearance, are all made by hand at the orphanage. The proceeds of the sale will be devoted to the benefit of the home.

WHAT ARE BUDDED WALNUTS?

Many of our customers ask us this question and other questions about various foods. We shall endeavor to answer such questions in our weekly advertisements.

BUDDED WALNUTS are produced in this way: The black walnut, which is a native to California, is planted in a nursery. When the seedling is one year old the bud from a selected English Walnut tree is budded under the bark and waxed over. The nuts produced from this "budded" tree are the walnuts known as budded. They are larger than the ordinary walnuts and the meat is of a much better quality and superior flavor.

Craftsmen's Show Scores Big Hit

The Second Edition Minstrels presented by the Craftsmen's Club of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., Wednesday night in Masonic Hall, Wall street, were a marked success. The talented members of the organization and several who were invited to perform were loudly applauded throughout the entire program. The minstrels will be held again tonight and those who attend will be well pleased with the production.

The curtains were drawn promptly and the show proceeded faultlessly until the finale. The end-men, Bill Newkirk, Al Messinger, Herby Thomas, Bill Murray, Walt Hallenbeck and Edith Flowers, performed in real minstrel-comedians' style. They pleased not only with vocal selections and snappy jokes but with dancing as well. The ballad singers, Richard A. Scherer, Clifford D. Moore and L. P. Carey, were obliged to render encores to their numbers.

The hostess, Miss Texas Moran, who was none other than Christy Heardon, and the other members of the cast who took female parts certainly proved their ability. K. R. Devo, W. E. Mellert, E. L. Lacey, L. P. Carey, R. Van Keuren and W. H. Ostrander were the so-called lady guests.

The olio pleased the audience very much. Major James Pierce, a member of Franklin Lodge, No. 212, New York city, and a veteran of the Civil War, and of the vaudeville stage, rendered old-time melodies on the violin, accompanied on the piano by Steve Grifing and Harry McKinley with his cornet. Mr. Pierce, who is over 85 years young, proved he has lost little of his ability. Master Reginald Devo sang a soprano solo and was greeted with much applause from the appreciative audience, who were favored with an encore. Then there was a novelty specialty by Richard Obenaus. Dick never fails when it comes to entertaining and his novelty sure made a hit with the patrons who applauded long and loud when the act was finished. Harry T. Merrill proved a syncopator with his saxophone from which he produced several jazz numbers.

Zucca's orchestra furnished the music for the minstrels. T. H. Richards trained the cast for the production.

Those who purchased tickets for the show Wednesday and were unable to attend may use the same tickets tonight.

Male Hatches Eggs

The casewary lays from six to eight eggs of a light greenish color, and these are incubated solely by the male, says Nature Magazine. The eggs are about six inches long and are difficult to boil because of their great bulk, but when scrambled or prepared as an omelet, are said to be excellent. A single egg will furnish a meal for several persons.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
New York—Tomorrow will be no fool's day for happy investors in American corporations. Some half a billion dollars will be distributed in interest and dividends.

New York—What is earned in 1,000 hours is spent in a year in retail stores. A survey shows that American families spent $35,000,000,000 in retail stores last year.

Cedarhurst, N. Y.—The real home life and atmosphere among the great majority of our people is in danger of destruction, in the opinion of Mrs. Louis A. Jaffer, because of the acute shortage of domestic servants. Writing from the Long Island country home district she urges President Coolidge and other personages at Washington to do something about the immigration restrictions.

New York—There's big money in being queen of the night clubs. Texas Guinan testified she earned $1,000 a week and extras as a hostess. Some estimates are that her extras run up to $12,000 a week. Anyhow for one year she paid a $64,000 income tax.

Paris—A gift of $500 from an anonymous American has enabled "the finest concert organ of Europe" to play again. Now it has electric motors to blow its 4,070 pipes. It is in the Trocadero, an auditorium with perfect acoustics.

New York—Because brokers' shouts are almost drowned by echoes of their own voices, the New York Cotton Exchange is consulting an expert in acoustics about its huge trading room.

Baltimore—Louis Single wanted to be otherwise—wanted to marry Helen Berkemeyer. He loaned her $1,000 to repair her house. Then she decided that she wanted to be single, but not Mrs. Single. So Mr. Single got a verdict for $250 for breach of promise.

New York—More than half a million of the three quarters of a million bequeathed by a man who started earning money as a bootblack is to go to charity. Peter F. Meyer rose to be a real estate auctioneer and a partner of Richard Croker.

Cincinnati—Saved from massacre by a squaw when he was a baby in '48, Harry Baker, 78, is going to Bear Creek, Ariz., as a missionary to 400 Apaches, whose ancestors killed his parents in a prospecting party. The American Bible Society Mission gave him a farewell reception.

Miss K. C.

Miss Jimmie Kenser was adjudged the most beautiful girl in Kansas City, and the former cigar counter girl will journey to Atlantic City to represent her city in the annual selection of "Miss America."

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 31 (AP).—
Widely conflicting price movements again characterized today's stock market. Renewal of selling pressure against the oils, motors and some of the specialties brought about further unsettlement early in the session but the persistent demand for a number of rails, coupled with a revival of activity and strength in U. S. Steel common, turned the main course of prices upward again by early afternoon.

Call money rates continued relatively firm, but this is regarded as a temporary condition, a return to the 4 per cent level being looked for early next week. The steady accumulation of the high priced rails and industrials was construed in some quarters as an indication that part of the half billion dollars to be distributed within the next week in the form of dividend and interest payments would be utilized for investment in seasoned dividend paying stocks.

A few of the oil stocks moved against the general trend. Lago advanced 2 points to a new high for the year in response to the inauguration of dividends on the common stock, and Houston and Atlantic Refining also recorded sharp gains.
International Silver jumped almost 11 points to a new high record, and gains of 3 to nearly six points were scored by Colorado and Southern.

HALF-BROTHER IS FOUND AT EAST KINGSTON

Secretary Charles J. Mullen of Kingston Lodge, No. 556, B. P. O.
E. says the item in The Freeman seeking for information as to relatives of John J. Carney, which he desired, had results stating he received a telephone from Martin Hunter of East Kingston that he was a half-brother. The information was sought as Mr. Carney, who is a member of the Elks lodge at Watertown, N. Y.,
is very ill in the hospital at Corning,
and Secretary Mullen was requested to get in touch with relatives as Mr.
Carney was born in 1855. The information was wired to the secretary of the Watertown lodge.

the Supreme court of that state, for today gave notice of his intention to ask the United States Supreme court for a review.

POULTRY
FACTS*BUILD UP FLOCK OF STRONG HENS

Only by continuous selection for health and vigor is it possible to build up a flock that will produce fertile eggs, strong chicks capable of making quick growth, and pullets with sufficient stamina to withstand the strain of heavy egg production.

The appearance of a bird is not always a sure indication of its vigor, but appearance and action, taken together are a fairly reliable guide for picking out vigorous birds.

The comb, face, and wattles should have a good bright color; the eyes should be fairly bright and fairly prominent, and the head should be comparatively broad and short, having a fairly short, well-curved beak and showing no tendency to be long,
"snaky," or "crow-headed."

The bird should be alert and have a strong, vigorous carriage; the legs should be set well apart and strongly support the body, giving no indication of weakness or a knock-kneed condition. The bone, as seen in the shank should be strong and not too fine for the breed while the toes should be strong, straight, and not too long. The plumage should be clean and smooth,
as a lack of condition often accompanies soiled, roughened plumage. The condition of flesh should be good, as a very thin bird is usually in poor health. Sick fowls, or fowls that have apparently recovered from sickness, should never be used for breeding.

Scaly Leg Will Submit to Efficient Treatment

Scaly leg is recognized by the enlarged, roughened appearance of the feet and legs. It is caused by a little mite which burrows beneath the scales and causes the formation of a yellowish, powdery substance which keeps raising up the scales until they present an unsightly appearance. In severe cases, if the birds are not cared for, the joints of the toes become inflamed, sometimes so lame the birds that they are unable to walk.

Wash the bird's legs well with soap and warm water and remove all loose scales. Rub well with a half-and-half mixture of kerosene and linseed oil (melted lard may be used in place of linseed oil); or fill a can with the mixture, and at night, after the birds have gone to roost, dip each bird's legs into it, allowing them to soak for a minute, then return the bird to the roost. Repeat the treatment every three or four days until the scales are removed. Oil of caraway used in the same manner is also very effective. To prevent the disease, spray the roosts, dropping boards, and all nearby cracks and crevices thoroughly and often so as to keep them free from mites.

Dirt and Board Floors
Each Have Advantages

Dirt and board floors each have their advantages. If the top soil is inclined to be of a sandy loam, well drained and inclined to dry quickly, the earth floor will be all right. In any case, dirt floors should be a few inches above the land outside so there will be no trouble from water running in and standing. A board floor should be put in some little distance above the ground so rats will not make a harbor under there, and so as to allow the air to circulate under it and prevent dampness to rot the floor. A floor should be well sanded, so it will not be too hard upon the fowls' feet.
Or covered with a good lot of litter. A nice cement floor makes the finest and most satisfactory floor of all.

Poultry Notes

The sun should not shine on the incubator. Watch this through the day.

The Toulouse goose is the larger variety, but the Embden has the longer legs.

Eggs should be kept in a dry as well as a cool place; moisture lessens
the impervious character of the shell, and permits the entrance of germs if the shell is soiled.

While it is difficult to get absolute uniformity of color in the eggs of the American and brown-shelled breeds, chalky white is the desired color.

Egg production is often cut short by a limited supply of water. A cock will stop laying sooner if kept without water than if kept without food.

Geese will breed in the first year if fully matured. Young geese mate in pairs; old stock matings of not more than four geese to a gander mated
in the fall.

Experiments show that sour milk is better for fowls than sweet milk. It seems to keep the digestive tract in better condition. But never change from sweet to sour or from sour to sweet.

Incense now comes in for a part in the life of every animal—such minerals as cobalt, iron, copper, etc.,
etc., are also claimed as the rare minerals found in the yolk of eggs and which minerals are an important factor in growth, breeding, fertility, fecundity, yield, etc.

Catholics to Help Russian Students

New York, March 31.—Catholic schools, colleges and other educational institutions in the United States were urged today to join in the promotion of an extensive student exchange plan in behalf of Russian students.

This cooperative educational project of Catholic schools and colleges and their student bodies, was announced by Prof. E. A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University, in an appeal issued today. Professor Walsh also asked for the cooperation of the heads of Catholic colleges and schools in enlisting the students' support for the projects which are being fostered by the new Catholic Near East Welfare Association, of which he is president.

The student exchange plan for Russian students, Prof. Walsh announced, is but one phase of the program of the merged American Catholic welfare societies now constituting the new association. He said that the mass support of Catholic students in this country will make it possible to assure the success of the movement.

Throughout the United States an endeavor will be made during the Easter season to gain the interest of American students in this ambitious educational plan for Russian youths seeking higher education. Prof.
Walsh said that the week of May 1
had been proposed as a special week in which to enroll students as members of the association.

In his appeal to heads of Catholic schools and colleges today Prof.
Walsh said that when Pope Pius XI urged the consolidation of all American Catholic agencies engaged in relief work in the Near East and Russia in the interest of economy and efficiency the Pontiff stressed particularly the need for special attention to the intellectual and moral needs of Russian youths. The words of Pius XI were: "If the various presidents of colleges and universities in the United States and the directors of high schools and academies and other educational institutions could provide opportunities for the Christian education of those youths they would merit the eternal gratitude of the Russian people and would bring him personally great consolation."

day by Justice Hitz in District of Columbia Supreme court.

ing arguments on the question of whether the verdict of guilty returned by the trial jury on March 16, should carry punishment for one offense, or for four offenses, one for each count in the indictment.

necticut company. It was learned today. The principal cities affected will be Greenwich and Stamford in this state and Portchester, N. Y.

First Baptist
Men's Banquet

It was a very enthusiastic body of men who attended the banquet of the men of the Church and their friends at the First Baptist Church,
Albany avenue, Wednesday night.
Seats were prepared for sixty-four attendees, and each seat was occupied.

Joseph W. Frankel, publisher of The Banters Post, was toastmaster. Addresses were made as follows:
Robert W. Doughty, Moderator of the Hudson River Central Baptist Association, subject, "The Association, a Man's Job"; the Rev. William Barlow, pastor of The First Baptist Church of Beacon, subject, "The Task of the Church"; the Rev. A. E.
Fin, pastor of The Moulton Memorial Church of Newburgh, subject,
"No Man's Land."

The menu included home-dressed turkey prepared by the ladies of the church, and judging from the supper that was placed before the men, if these ladies decided to go into the restaurant business, all of our local hotels would have to charge their signs to read, "Rooms Only."

When it is considered that the speakers consisted of an attorney, two doctors, and the editor of a newspaper, it is not necessary to explain further why this banquet was the most successful, from every point of view, ever held by the men of the First Baptist Church of this city.

DE PINEDO PREPARES FOR HIS FLIGHT WESTWARD.

New Orleans, March 31 (AP).—
Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator making a tour of four continents, got down to business here today. After being feted by the city for a day and a half, the airman started on a minute inspection of every part of his plane in preparation for his flight westward, which he now thinks will start tomorrow.

Two of the most important pieces of equipment, which must be in place before the plane starts again, are the mosquito gun and the fishing tackle. The commander insisted that he could not leave without them. The fishing tackle, he said, was to provide food and amusement
if they had to come down for some unscheduled stop. And the aviator insists that the mosquito gun saved
the lives of him and his two companions over Brazil.

FORD INVESTIGATOR
BLAMES CARELESS SPEEDER

Detroit, March 31 (AP).—Lying in his own big hospital surrounded by a fortune accounted the world's greatest, Henry Ford today was reported recovering from injuries received last Sunday night when the coupe in which he was riding alone was forced from the road by a larger closed car.

The Ford organization discredited reports that the 64-year-old automobile manufacturer was the victim of a deliberate attempt to take his life.

In the first authoritative statement from any Ford source, Harry H. Bennett, chief of the Ford investigators, said today that he was satisfied no attempt was made deliberately to crowd Mr. Ford off the road; and that the accident was caused by a careless speeder.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WILL KEEP HANDS OFF

Washington, March 31 (AP).—The eve of an expected widespread shutdown in the soft coal mining industry finds all indications pointing to the federal government keeping its hands off the situation. The suspension is expected tomorrow because of the failure of the miners' union and the coal operators to agree on any general wage scale contract.

Neither the union—the United Mine Workers—nor the operators have any appeals pending in Washington, and other aspects of the situation apparently preclude any immediate possibility of government intervention that would prompt federal action.

S.S.B.L. Boys Hear Of Square Sports

Moral Value of Athletics Set Forth by Allan A. MacLaughlin of Albany in Address to Kingston S. S. Basketball League Players.

Fifty-two of the boys who played in the Sunday School Basketball League, seniors and juniors, partook of a banquet prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. and served by members of the H-Y Auxiliary in the banquet hall of the Y Wednesday night. However, the delicious menu prepared and served by the ladies was not the only outstanding feature of the event for the boys heard a talk which dealt with playing square and aiming for a high purpose in whatever task is undertaken. Allan A. MacLaughlin was the speaker. He is athletic instructor of the Albany Y. M. C. A.

Mr. MacLaughlin, speaker of the evening was introduced by Martin Snyder, president of the Sunday School League, who was toastmaster of the evening. In his opening words in order to get acquainted with his listeners the speaker told several humorous stories.

The valuable thoughts contained in the talk given by Mr. MacLaughlin were that every player in any game whether it be athletics or otherwise should play square, aim for a high goal and never lose self control—that control which prevents a man from manifesting the spirit of the lower animals, hatred for those who seem to play unfairly. He illustrated the "keep going spirit" and aim for a purpose by telling the story of how Stockholm, the great bicycle rider, won second place in a race recently held in the Metropolis. Although this boy met with a severe accident during the contest he nevertheless kept riding and lost by a small margin to McNamara, one of the greatest riders of the times. He called the boys' attention to the fact that Stockholm did the same thing while making a charge on the enemy during the World War. He was hurt but kept progressing. It was really because the boy was gassed that he took up bicycle riding to regain his health and by so doing and putting the spirit of aiming high into his work he became good enough to ride in the races where the participants trudge along for 146 hours on a track one-tenth of a mile around.

The speaker also cited striking examples of the good qualities possessed by two of the most prominent athletes ever to play in the national sport, Babe Ruth and the late Christy Mathewson. He told how Babe after being reminded by Mayor Jimmy Walker some years ago that he was the outstanding player in the eyes of the country's youth and should always remember that he was considered an example, resolved that he would always conduct himself like a gentleman on the diamond in order to impress the boys of the country with the spirit of good sportsmanship. The speaker remarked what a favorite Babe is with the growing generation. Mr. MacLaughlin said that the great Christy Mathewson was an exponent of self control and whenever asked what the valued possession of a professional athlete was he would say that control over self was the greatest.

The speaker cautioned the boys against that one thing that tends to tear down a fellow's regard for his opponent—popularity.

He said that prayer instead of profanity tended to help in the winning of goals and gave an example. He cited an incident which occurred on a train when the great "Bo" MacMillan was traveling home back to Center College in the south, after defeating Harvard. He told the boys that MacMillan read scripture to his men. That year his eleven won every game.

The speaker requested the boys to use the code of honor which hangs in the athletic director's office in all Y. M. C. A. buildings. He said that application of the code to affairs in the daily routine of life would also tend to produce gain.

Trophies Awarded.
Chester A. Hall of the Boys' Department in the local Y awarded the trophies to the winners of the Junior and Senior Leagues. The Congregational team won the first Junior and the Senior was taken by the Redeemer quintet. In awarding the prizes Mr. Hall called attention to the good work done by the boys and the fine spirit manifested by them in all games. He said that second place trophies would be awarded in the near future to the Port Ewen Seniors and the Clinton M. E. Juniors. They will be donated by the American Legion. Mr. Hall called special attention to the fact that the winners of the Junior League had to practice on an open court, filled with "sticks and stones" as he put it.

Ed Mesinger, who accepted the trophy for the Redeemers, said that it was a pleasure for him to receive the trophy. He accepted it in the absence of Captain Chet Fox who so successfully led the quintet throughout the season. Mr. Elmendorf accepted the prize for the Ponckobocke five and asked that those present pay a visit to the Sunday school of the Congregational Church some Sunday and witness the boys do as well in the mastery of the Testaments as they did on the basketball court.

"Pop" Hinds as he is known to the boys, made comments on the playing of the games staged during the league season at the Y. He said that the boys deserved credit for the wonderful way in which they conducted themselves on the basketball floor. Mr. Hinds in commenting on the winning organizations said that from one of the biggest boys to play in the Junior division—he is about six feet in height and is thirteen years of age—was one of the cleanest players in the league. "Pop" also admitted the playing of the Redeemers, who did not lose a game throughout the season. Mr. Hinds also explained about the elimination contests to be conducted by the Y. All teams in the country are eligible to compete and some fast games are expected. One of the outside teams to compete it is expected will be the Red Shields. They have a record of sterling quality and all are waiting to witness a game between them and the Redeemers. Entries may be made by contestants throughout the week until next Tuesday. The physical director or also admired the point gathering of Irwin and Dittus.

All relished the delicious food prepared and faultlessly served by the ladies. The tables were very neatly and attractively decorated with flowers. The arrangement of the tables was also very admirable.

Oratorical Test At High School

Leo Doherty Chosen Winner of Annual Times Oratorical Contest—Prizes to Hold Concert and Dance Saturday, April 9.

Wednesday morning the assembly period was devoted to the school's annual Times oratorical contest. The eight contestants of which seven were boys, had well written speeches and delivered them very satisfactorily. Miss Tarrant had skillfully coached them in delivery.

Leo Doherty was selected as the winner and William Pretsch and Joseph Tannenbaum closely followed.

Francis Brennan was the first speaker and spoke on "Hamilton and the Constitution." He showed the development of the United States since the Constitution had been adopted. He also gave Hamilton's political life and how Hamilton's plan for the new U. S. Government was later adopted, in part.

Irving Funk spoke on "Slavery and the Constitution," which has not been spoken on before in the school. His main points were centered around growth of respect for the person who was once a slave. The respect is increased in the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution.

"The Constitution" by Tufock Maroon was next and was well given by the author and showed how the Constitution had withstood the acid test of time; how it had passed through a very critical period (the Civil War) and still united the states. Miss Simmons, the only girl contestant, spoke on the "Constitution of the United States." She centered her speech mainly around the firmness and adaptability of the Constitution.

Raymond Keenan spoke on "Franklin and the Constitution." He said that almost every country must meet and marshal economic, political and educational problems. The United States has met and overcome these under the Constitution. He also told that old story of the Constitutional Convention at Philadelphia, how Franklin offered few suggestions but those he offered were generally adopted. In closing he said that the purpose of every congressman is for the perpetuation of the United States, regardless of party or the state from which he is a representative.

Leo Doherty, the winner of the contest, chose for his topic "The Meaning of the Constitution Today" and gave the development of man's freedom in the U. S. since the constitution established a just government. Mr. Doherty's speech seemed to dwell around "are you taking your share of responsibility or are you letting it fall on others?" He cited cases where people say the principles of the constitution are old-fashioned and the constitution ready for the waste-basket. In fact, the principles are needed as much today as they were then. The principles are needed today as a lighthouse, guiding the American people over peace, prosperity and union. He closed with the words of Lincoln: "That this government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

William Pretsch was the next speaker and spoke on "Franklin's Contribution to the Constitution." He said that such great men's work, such as Washington's, Hamilton's and Madison's, would have been for naught had it not been for Franklin. Twice Franklin saved the constitutional convention from breaking up. When smaller states wanted the representation by states and large states wanted it by the number of people, Franklin offered two suggestions which were adopted. When the convention was ready to adjourn Franklin arose and pointing to a blazing sun at the back of the president's chair said, "While I have been sitting here these many weeks I have wondered if that is a rising sun or a setting sun, but now I know it is a rising sun. A rising sun symbolizing the birth of a new nation with liberty and justice for all." With these words Mr. Pretsch closed his address.

Joseph Tannenbaum was the last speaker and spoke on "Lincoln and the Constitution." Lincoln during the Civil War, signed the Emancipation Proclamation which freed the slaves forever in the U. S. In a short time over 100,000 colored soldiers enlisted in the Union Army. Lincoln, even as Moses guided his followers out of the house of bondage, from Egypt through the Red Sea and deserts to safety, guided the slaves out of the house of bondage to freedom.

All of the speeches were well given and it was difficult to judge the winner.
